Students Are Not Afraid

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 9.—Revolutions, even the most bloody, sometimes begin most casually. Our own was like that. A few farmers, shooting from behind a stone wall with their squirrel rifles, halted British troops near Lexington.

Here, in this truly beautiful, proud little country, which recently freed itself from the steadily constricting, barbarous bonds of communism, they hope to restore the meaning of their October revolution of 1944. It was this revolution which the Communists seized and perverted.

It began casually. On June 22, 1944, students at the pld and respected university demanded the dictator, Gen. Jorge Ubico y Castenada, give their institution freedom to teach. He closed it. (Let all dictators, or would-be dictators, note from history how poor is the reward of opposing education.) Students are not afraid.

Beginning

On June 23 they and some of their teachers formed in small groups, walked along the street, stopping now and then to read portions of the United Nations Charter; paragraphs of their own constitution and other literature which Ubico had ruled subversive.

The next day ordinary citizens joined them. Troops were called out and the marchers were fired on. A general strike came. On July 1 Ubico resigned, but left one of his generals as a stand-in.

On the night of Oct. 19, young officers and students brought off a successful revolution. Three of the young officers took over. Their names are important chiefly because one must be remembered—Capt. Joseph Arbenz.

He had an ambitious wife. She and her captain had been snubbed by the society of the capital. Her own family had disowned her because she had "married beneath" her family. She is, they told me, beautiful. When "society" ignored her, certain Marxist groups cultivated her. Shrewdly she flattered her. Her house became, in effect, a Communist meeting place.

She was a vindictive woman, like Eva Peron. The revolution was in the hands of young men. Even Arbenz, the eldest, was but 31. Their revolution included none of the Indians or the workers. It was a revolution by intellectuals. They burned with a fierce nationalism.

It is a fact of all revolutions (our own included), that, as Dr. Ralph Bunche has said, "a highly emotional hunger for political freedom grows stronger than the hunger for bread."

This one, having no roots in the long-depressed laboring class, was vulnerable. It lacked professionals. Its first president said, with truth, that the revolution did not believe "man is primarily stomach. We believe that, above all, man desires dignity." But he was either a dilettante, a fool or privately a Communist. He opened the doors to the latter.

Communists

Arbenz was next selected as president. There followed a hurried rush of Communists into key positions. Arbenz insisted he was not a Communist. Had he been one openly he could not have done more for them.

Listening to the stories, one thinks of Madame Arbenz and Lady Macbeth.

There was one man who threatened her husband's position. He was one of the three officers who had led the revolution—Francisco Arana. He was openly anti-Communist. He was murdered. His chauffeur escaped. He said the killers were in Mrs. Arbenz's car. Later, after a session with Arbenz's police, he recanted.

The nationalist revolution was ended.

The Communist revolution began. It had success because it identified itself with all the aims of the idealists—a typical Communist trick.

It was ended in another revolution, bloody armed. Today the idealists, assisted with the bitter knowledge of experience, seek to rebuild. The hunger for political freedom remains.

And all free peoples must give all help.

Sheppard's Guilt Denial To Kin Told

Doctor Cried 'No' Firmly, Jury Hears

By ARTHUR EVERETT
CLEVELAND, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was pictured in sworn testimony today as crying "Hell, no" to his brother's blunt question whether he murdered his wife, Marilyn Sheppard. That was shortly after the discovery of the body.

The 30-year-old osteopath is on trial for his life in the slaying. J. Spencer Houk, mayor of the little community of Bay Village 12 miles west of here, testified he was summoned to the slaying scene last July 4 in an excited phone call from Dr. Sheppard. Houk and his wife were the first outsiders to get there.

Houk said he was on hand when Sheppard's eldest brother, Dr. Richard N. Sheppard, arrived and examined Marilyn's bloody and battered body.

ASKS BROTHER

"Dr. Richard bent over Dr. Sam," Houk related, "and I heard him say, 'She's gone, Sam,' or words to that effect, and Sam slumped further down in his chair and said, 'Oh, my God.'"

"Richard said, 'Did you do this or have anything to do with it?' and Sam said, 'Hell, no.'"

Houk's testimony followed that of a plump little suburban matron, who said Dr. Sheppard was talking out of divorcing Marilyn only a few months before her murder. This witness said she wasn't sure Sheppard loved his wife.

"OTHER WOMAN"

The woman witness was Mrs. Nancy Ahern, a close friend and Bay Village neighbor of the Sheppards. She averted her eyes from the handsome defendant as she told a courtroom hanging on her every word that Mrs. Sheppard knew of her husband's affair with another woman.

Houk is a tall man. His deep-set eyes and shock of black hair gave him an owl-like look at times. He spoke deeply and so slowly and hesitantly that Asst. Prosecutor John J. Mahon had to drag some of the answers from him.

He was the state's fourth witness. He was Sheppard's family meat dealer, and one of the osteopath's closest friends.

Houk told how Dr. Sheppard telephoned him shortly before 6 a.m. July 4 and then testified:

"He said, 'Get over here quick. I think they've killed Marilyn.' I said, 'What?' and he said, 'Oh, my God, get over here quick.'"

Houk and his wife got there five minutes later and found Sheppard slumped in an easy chair.

"I immediately went up to him and asked what happened," Houk continued. "He said, 'I don't know exactly but somebody ought to try to do something for Marilyn.'"

"I asked him to get hold of himself and tell me what happened."

"He said, 'I don't know. I just remember waking up on the couch. I heard Marilyn screaming. I started upstairs and somebody or

2 Days of 70-High Promised City

Weather in Atlanta and environs will follow the same pleasant pattern of the past few days, the weatherman said and issued a forecast of mostly fair and continued mild for Wednesday and Thursday.

Temperatures both days are expected to range between a morning low of 42 to a day's high of 70—a repeat of extremes recorded at the weather bureau Tuesday.

FORMER SHIP'S COOK FOUND IN STRAITS HERE
C. V. Watfers Lived In Abandoned Rock Quarry, Police Said

Ill Hitch-Hiker Hides In Quarry 3 Months

By KEELER MCCARTHY
Within sight of the glittering lights that mark downtown Atlanta, a 56-year-old former ship's cook has spent the last three months sick, hungry and often near freezing.

He was found Tuesday night, almost collapsed from hunger and shivering under makeshift cover of old newspapers and box tops in an abandoned rock quarry along Northside drive near Green street, NW.

Patrolmen J. C. Varnum and F. E. Kennedy carried the man, listed as Clarence Vandiver Waters of Dayton, Ohio, to Grady Hospital. Physicians there said he was suffering from malnutrition and exposure.

Waters said he had lost track of time since he became ill while hitch-hiking from Elberton, Ga., to Dayton, and decided to rest for a while in a wooded section along Northside drive.

Pd. Kennedy, however, recalled seeing him there early in August.

"I felt so bad that I stayed where I was for a few days," he said. "By then my beard had grown out until I was ashamed to come out. Then I just stayed on."

When discovered, his beard hung down to his chest. Kennedy and Varnum said they received several calls to investigate a person seen around the abandoned rock quarry in recent weeks, but had been unable to find anyone until Tuesday.

Waters said he formerly was employed as a ship's cook and had decided to visit his parents in Elberton. When he arrived in Elberton, he found that his parents had moved away. He then began hitch-hiking towards Dayton.

Wage Pacts End Atom Labor Woes

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Nov. 9 (U.P.)—New wage agreements virtually assuring labor peace among 8,000 production and maintenance workers in three atomic plants were approved today.

Local 288, CIO United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers' Union, voted acceptance of a package 10-cent hourly wage boost for 3,500 workers in one plant.

At the same time, the AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council accepted a 4-cent hourly increase, effective Jan. 15, for 4,500 workers in two other plants.

Bohlen came under heavy criticism this morning from Republican Senators Williams F. Knowland and Styles Bridges.

Man Killed by Bus In His 4th Attempt

LONDON, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Most extraordinary, K. M. Digby commented today in ruling that the death of William Wilson was suicide while mentally unbalanced.

Wilson threw himself in front of four buses, according to testimony at the inquest. After the first three near misses, he picked himself up and apologized to his bus driver.

Frederick Mansfield, driver of the fourth bus, said he couldn't stop in time.

Democrats Vow To Kill Power Pact

Chiefs Warn AEC To Quit Politics

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR
New York Times News Service
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Senate Democratic leadership served notice on the Atomic Energy Commission today to get out of politics. Further, the Democrats pledged to kill the controversial Dixon-Yates private power contract.

After a meeting of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, Sen. Johnson (Tex.) asserted: "The Democrats will attempt to see that the AEC functions as it should" to maintain the country's superiority in the atomic field.

"QUIET BURIAL"

"We expect," he said, "that if the Democrats assume the majority in the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, the Dixon-Yates thing can be given a quiet burial and the AEC can be released to do the work for which it was set up."

Meanwhile, high administration circles were discussing the possibility that the Dixon-Yates group would pull out of the negotiations with the AEC to supply power to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

These talks were based on mounting pressures from other private utilities, which feared being tagged with "give-away" charges in the bitter political fight.

READY TO SIGN

In Atlanta, E. A. Yates, board chairman of the Southern Company, one of the two companies in the Dixon-Yates group, indicated his company was still ready to sign.

"We believe that this proposal is in the public interest," he said in a statement issued Tuesday from the offices of the Southern Company. "Responsible representatives of various government agencies have stated that it is in the public interest. Certainly it is not in the public interest to continue to delay."

A high administration leader said the administration would not back down on its approval of the proposal.

LIKE FIRM

Nor would it back down from its basic power philosophy that such developments should come through a "partnership" of federal, state and local governments, and private enterprise, it was said. President Eisenhower, this source said, was firm in this stand.

If Dixon-Yates abandons the proposal, it was said that another approach to the problem would be sought in an effort to implement the "partnership" concept of assuring that groups at local levels would assume what should be their responsibilities.

In addition, some Republican leaders also were fearful of the political consequences. These Republicans believe that the private versus public power fight, in part, cost them control of Congress, particularly in the Senate, where the Oregon Republican seat went to a Democrat.

SIDETRACK

The Democrats also moved within the joint committee to sidetrack the Dixon-Yates proposal until Congress opens under apparent Democratic leadership in January.

Sen. Pastore (RI) announced he would present to the committee an executive session tomorrow a resolution urging the AEC to withhold the signing of the contract to afford the committee an opportunity to study it after the 84th Congress convenes.

The Democrats expected support

Watkins Group Aids Red Goal in Censure Plea, McCarthy Says

Churchill Asks Accord With East

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Churchill said tonight the world may enjoy peace and plenty in a few years "instead of roaming and peering round on the rim of hell."

Churchill, resplendent in his trappings as a Knight of the Garter, spoke optimistically of the world outlook in an address at the annual banquet of the lord mayor of London. The new lord mayor, Seymour Howard, introduced him as the "greatest personality of our times."

The Prime Minister voiced the hope that Western unity can "create that peace through strength that will allow time to play its healing part" in bringing peace to the world.

"SMOOTH CAUSEWAY"

"We might even find ourselves in a few years moving along a broad, smooth causeway, of peace and plenty, instead of roaming and peering round on the rim of hell," he said.

He described himself as "one of those who believe that the powers of the West and the East ought to try to live in a friendly and peaceful way with each other."

He said the foundation of Britain's existence stands "on our alliance, friendship, and an increasing sense of brotherhood with the United States . . . We are also developing increasingly intimate ties with France, Germany, Italy, and the Low Countries . . ."

OIL SETTLEMENT

Recent achievements which he mentioned as good omens included the London and Paris agreements which might end the "ancient antagonism of France and Germany," settlement of the British-Iranian oil dispute; ending the Italian-Yugoslav dispute over Trieste; and the British-Egyptian agreement on removing $3,000 British troops from the Suez Canal zone.

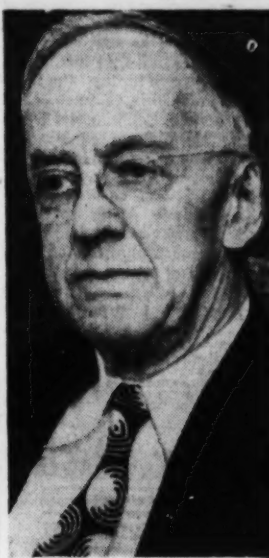

He referred to the "revolution in the science of destruction" which he said had "profoundly changed the factors and values by which men have hitherto been guided—or misguided." He added this meant the "character and timetable of any future war has undergone a cataclysmic change."

EX-GOVERNOR DIES
Clifford M. Walker

Former Gov. Walker Dies at 77

Constitution State News Service
MONROE, Nov. 9.—Former Gov. Clifford M. Walker, 77, president and founder of the Woodrow Wilson College of Law in Atlanta, died at his home here Tuesday morning.

Funeral services will be held from the First Baptist Church in Monroe at 3 p.m. Thursday. The body will lie in state at the church for an hour before the services. Burial will be in the family cemetery at Monroe.

The Rev. J. L. Drake, former pastor of the church, and the Rev. W. W. Richardson, pastor, will officiate.

CLASSMATES

Honorary pallbearers will include Mr. Walker's former schoolmates of the Class of 1897 at the University of Georgia; the faculty of the Woodrow Wilson College of Law and members of the Georgia Department of Labor.

Active pallbearers will be J. P. Adams, Garland Radford, George Cox, Henry Tichenor, R. L. Nowell Jr. and Felker Lewis.

The body is at Broadlawn Funeral Home.

FROM 1923 TO 1927

Mr. Walker was governor of Georgia from 1923 to 1927. He also had served as attorney general and more recently as general counsel of the State Department of Labor.

"All Georgians are grieved to hear of the passing of former Gov. Clifford Walker," Gov. Talmadge said in a statement issued from the Capitol.

"He gave virtually his entire adult life to the service of his state," Talmadge said. "He was a fine Christian gentleman, had a warm personality, and a host of personal friends. I join with them in expressions of sympathy at his passing."

Mr. Walker's death was unexpected. A servant found him dead in bed about 11:30 a. m. Ordinarily he was an early riser.

Charges Facts Distorted by Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—Sen. McCarthy charged today that the Senate's Watkins committee "imitated Communist methods" and "cooperated in the achievement of Communist goals" in recommending that the Senate censure him.

McCarthy fired his blast at the committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), shortly after Watkins formally introduced a resolution of censure against the Wisconsin Republican. The Senate opens full-dress debate on the issue tomorrow.

"OBSTRUCTING"

The Watkins resolution charged McCarthy with "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate" by "failing to cooperate" with a 1951-52 elections subcommittee. It also accused him of trying to destroy "good faith" between Congress and the administration by abusing Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, an administration witness.

McCarthy immediately made public advance copies of a speech with which he will open his defense on the Senate floor tomorrow.

McCarthy charged that the Watkins committee "not only cooperated in the achievement of Communist goals, but in writing its report it imitated Communist methods. . . . It distorted, misrepresented and omitted in its effort to manufacture a plausible rationalization for advising the Senate to accede to the clamor for my scalp."

"UNWITTING HANDMAIDEN"

"I would have the American people recognize, and contemplate in dread, the fact that the Communist Party—a relatively small group of deadly conspirators—has now extended its tentacles to that most respected of American bodies, the United States Senate; that it has made a committee of the Senate its unwitting handmaiden," McCarthy said.

He said the Watkins committee did not "knowingly" do the work of the Communist Party.

"I am saying it was the victim of a Communist campaign," he said, "and having been victimized, it became the Communist Party's involuntary agent."

FILIBUSTER HINTED

Meantime, a high Senate source said McCarthy's friends were mapping strategy to talk the Watkins resolution to death if they fail in efforts to tone it down. McCarthy said he knew of nobody who "personally intends to filibuster." He said, however, that his speech tomorrow will be only one in a series.

As for the specific charges in the censure resolution, McCarthy said:

"Abuse of Gen. Zwicker? Why, within the last months several committee members have used much stronger language toward witnesses. No censure resolution has been offered in these instances, and none will be."

"Denouncing a Senate committee and its members? Why, senators have done this with varying degrees of gusto from time immemorial—sometimes (as I believe to be the case with the Gillette committee)—with justification, sometimes without it—but always with impunity inasmuch as this is a land of free speech."

AIRPORT REPORT—NO. 3

Time-Saving Speed of Sky Travel Nullified by Jammed Car Routes

The very purpose of air travel—time-saving speed—often is defeated by automobile traffic delays on zig-zagging, congested routes between downtown Atlanta and the municipal airport.

It is impossible to estimate how many people a day are affected by such traffic delays.

Jack Gray, manager of the airport, figures, however, that 350,000 persons enter the airport every month. That's more than 10,000 a day. And they do not include those airline travelers on through flights or connecting flights who arrive and leave by plane.

With such heavy traffic to and from the airport on the ground, the need for a better access route is obvious. Because hundreds of the more than 10,000 persons a day now trying to get to and from the airport on narrow Virginia avenue and other Hapeville streets are often held up in traffic bottlenecks.

Every one of those 350,000 people Gray is talking about has to enter or leave the airport by automobile, taxicab or bus.

Gray's estimate of the automotive traffic may seem high at first glance. But it may really be conservative.

Chamber of Commerce and airline officials estimate 2,000 people a day board commercial planes in Atlanta on trips originating here. That means 2,000 people riding to the airport in motor vehicles. Another 2,000 will arrive by air and leave the airport by auto, taxi or bus. That's 4,000 right there.

Then there are the 4,360 employees of Eastern, Delta-C&S, Capital and Southern Airways, the air freight companies, aircraft service and maintenance groups, the government, the military and express and mail agencies.

Many of those 4,360 employees

Dad's Heart To Pump For His Son

The heart and lungs of a Thomaston man will be used as a substitute for those of his 20-month-old child during a delicate operation which Upson County citizens have made possible by donating approximately $3,600.

The operation on little Bobby Partridge, son of S. Sgt. and Mrs. C. U. Partridge Jr. of Thomaston, will be performed by specialists at the University of Minnesota Hospital in December.

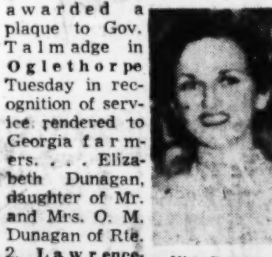

The baby's blood will be channeled through his father's heart and lungs while surgeons are sewing up a hole in one of the lower chambers of Bobby's heart.

Leon Smith, Thomaston newspaperman, said the local papers and radio station were showered with contributions to finance the surgery after they publicized Bobby's plight. He said no appeal for funds was made—but more than $2,500 was received in the first couple of days after Bobby's story was told. Other contributions followed.

Sgt. Partridge was given a leave from his station in Alaska so that he might be with his child at the time of the operation. He is on a 45-day leave at his home in Thomaston and then will be stationed at Dobbins Air Force Base at Marietta.

WHY THEY SAY:

"We'd Never be Without Father John's Medicine"

In many homes Father John's Medicine is always on hand because its use has become a habit from one generation to another. Today mothers are giving it to their children because their mothers gave it to them when they were young.

This unusual family confidence is the result of proven merit. Try it for yourself. It has been used by millions for over 99 years.

Judge Blames Mother For Teen-Age Stealing

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles on juvenile delinquency in the Atlanta area.

By ANNE GOWEN

Joe's mother walked into Fulton County Juvenile Court, stared at her 16-year-old son standing before the judge, clutched her bosom, gasped and shuddered into sobs.

"I did everything in the world for him . . . everything in the world. . . . How can this happen to him?" she wept.

She listened incredulously as Joe admitted a nine-month spree of petty thefts from homes, automobiles and stores in the West End section where they lived. "Baby didn't do those things. I know Baby isn't a thief," she murmured piteously as her strapping high school halfback son reeled off a list of hubcaps, fender skirts, gas, auto tires, spotlights and money he had stolen.

BAD INFLUENCE

She was aghast when the juvenile probation officer suggested Joe should be removed from their home "because his mother is a bad influence on him."

"Bad influence!" she exclaimed, jumping to her feet. "What in the world do you mean?"

"I draw his bath water for him every night. I fix him sandwiches whenever he's hungry. I let him have the car any time he wants it. He gets all the spending money he wants."

"I know Baby's teachers pick on him in school. Who stands up for him then? Me, that's who! I march right down and tell that principal just what's happening."

"What more can a mother do, I ask you!" she shouted.

Judge W. W. Woolfolk sent Joe from the courtroom and explained to the agitated woman that she had actually done "far too much" for her son.

"JUST A HABIT"

The boy had told court officers his thefts "just got to be a habit."

He said he didn't worry about the persons whose property he took.

'To Wed Olivia'

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Pierre Galante of Paris, a magazine editor, arrived here today en route to Hollywood, Calif., where, he said, he will marry actress Olivia de Havilland.

Galante, 44, said he met Miss De Havilland a year ago in England and again in Cannes, France, and it was love at first sight.

"I never thought I'd get caught," he said.

Judge Woolfolk told the woman her overindulgence and babying had left the boy with no sense of right and wrong.

"He feels no responsibility for his actions. He only worries about what's going to happen to him now," he judge said.

The mother apparently never understood, the judge said later. So the court sent Joe to live with his father who was divorced from the mother when Joe was two. Since then Joe has been enrolled in a military school where he seems to be getting along fine, the judge said.

"Too much pampering is almost as bad as neglecting a child altogether. More parents should think about that," Judge Woolfolk said.

Pilot Life leads the way with a new type of insurance protection—protection for the parents who might have the misfortune of a new baby born a victim of a disability or malformation at birth—a child who will require a lot of medical attention and care that could possibly ruin these parents financially.

Now for one single payment of $35 the prospective parent may insure against this possibility. This guarantees up to $10,000 for the finest in medical care for the tragically stricken child. Bills designated by the doctor according to the specified covered charges will be paid by The Pilot up to $10,000, after the first $250 is paid by the parents (Normally covered by standard hospitalization insurance).

Pilot Life will pay up to $10,000 for a period up to the 10th birthday of the child, if necessary, for things that go wrong at birth—or for specified conditions (outlined at the left) that occur during the child's first year.

THE PILOT PAYS ALL THIS: Hospital room, board; institution room and board; doctors' and surgeons' bills; drugs, dressings, casts, splints, braces, crutches, artificial limbs; supplies of blood; anaesthetics, oxygen; laboratory and X-ray services; all services of hospitals and institutions, registered nurses, and physiotherapists. No standard hospitalization or medical insurance has made such protection possible!

Prospective parents or grandparents may buy it. It will apply to the first live child born within five years after the date of the policy. You may buy additional policies for other children.

The medical profession is full of praise for this type of insurance. Doctors, hospitals, parents, and institutions know that more stricken children are born than anyone cares to believe. We urge you to investigate this unusual protection today.

Griffin's Program Sounds Moderate

Gov.-Elect Marvin Griffin gave the press the most complete preview of his forthcoming administration to date Monday night at the Sigma Delta Chi meeting in Atlanta.

In a straightforward talk, followed by a frank question and answer period, Mr. Griffin outlined a program that will be received kindly for the most part by the people of Georgia.

There were points of controversy, of course, and these will have to be settled by events during day-to-day unfolding of his legislative program. On the whole, as he pointed out, there are no drastic changes proposed.

Certainly the state will applaud his announced intention of tightening revenue collections so that each man will pay his just share. There can be no quarrel with the objective of furthering the state's forestry program and of working to accelerate the development of industry.

More attention must certainly be paid to development of the state's water resources and to encouraging irrigation. Proposals to sell automobile tags at county courthouses and to increase workmen's compensation benefits will find a hearty response from the public at large.

The governor-elect said he thought the Georgia Literature Commission set up to control obscene literature was unnecessary and that existing laws in this connection had been sufficient to control the problem. He will find many people in agreement.

Mr. Griffin again said he hopes that it will not be necessary to use the "private school" amendment nor to change the present system of public schools in order to preserve segregation. The issue, of course, presents the most explosive potential of any that faces the new administration. Let us all pray that it does not become necessary to destroy our public schools.

The outline the governor-elect submitted to newsmen is, on the whole, moderate. It calls for a continuation of orderly progress and proposes no radical changes. There will be controversies in political administration, but the times do call for moderation.

As he prepares to assume his duties, Mr. Griffin is to be commended for his efforts to achieve unity on an acceptable program for the entire state.

It Takes a Native Son To Locate Our Airport

Pittsburgh has an airport that hardly is in Atlanta's class as far as traffic is concerned.

In other respects, however, it makes, our pride and joy look like an emergency field.

The Pittsburgh port has a magnificent terminal building. It can handle all the demands made upon it, not only with comfort but in style. The terminal facilities include a night club, a hotel with 62 rooms, several restaurants and a number of shops.

If it is possible to be content in the face of an oversold or a cancelled flight, Pittsburgh is the place to be.

The Pittsburgh grandeur is fine, and just what a city like Atlanta deserves. The airport is the first, and sometimes the only impression a lot of travellers get of a city. In our case it is a fairly unfortunate impression.

The Pittsburgh airport's crowning glory though lies not in its beauty, comfort and style, but in an expressway that runs right to its doors.

It is 20 minutes from downtown Pittsburgh to the airport terminal, and no chance of getting lost en route. Atlanta's airport needs an approach like this, too. In fact, it is one of the most important of unmet civic needs.

Pittsburgh brags that its airport serves 3,500,000 people in other parts of Pennsylvania, and the neighboring states of West Virginia and Ohio. We are glad to note that Gov.-elect Marvin Griffin has realized the importance of Atlanta's airport to much of Georgia and has pledged his administration to study the problem of making the terminal more accessible to those who use it.

Times Were Troublous When Walker Governed

Ex-Governor Clifford M. Walker, a controversial political figure in the middle twenties, died quietly in his sleep Tuesday at his residence in Monroe, his birthplace.

Clifford Walker got his political start as mayor of Monroe, and later became solicitor general of the Western Judicial Circuit. Next he served as attorney general of Georgia, and from that springboard attained the governorship.

His first try was a failure. Thomas W.

Hardwick roundly defeated him. But two years later, in the 1922 primary, Walker trounced Hardwick. By then the powerful Sen. Tom Watson had withdrawn his support from the independent and uncompromising Hardwick, and given it to Walker. Watson's backing, plus that of the Ku Klux Klan, which also was mad at Hardwick, resulted in Walker's election. Two years later he was elected again, this time without opposition.

On his retirement from the governor's office in 1927, Mr. Walker lived quietly. He and Mrs. Walker maintained an apartment in Atlanta where he had a law practice and served for many years as general counsel of the State Department of Labor. But their home was in Monroe, and their hearts were there too, among a peaceful circle of relatives and good friends, far from the strains and hectic years of the governorship.

Another Justice Harlan May Serve on the Court

The name of John Marshall Harlan of New York has been sent to the Senate by the President as the successor on the Supreme Court of Robert H. Jackson, who died on Oct. 9.

President Eisenhower's nominee now is a judge of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, a post to which he was appointed by the President last March. Prior to this appointment to the bench, Judge Harlan had a long and good record as a jurist, a fact which consoles the vast majority of Americans who prefer judges to politicians as the final arbiters of the law.

The nominee is the grandson and namesake of a Supreme Court justice who served from 1877 to 1911. The first Justice Harlan won fame as the sole dissenter in the 1896 case of Plessy versus Ferguson. Then the court ruled that racial segregation was not unconstitutional on railroads if equal facilities were provided. Grandfather Harlan commented that the Constitution must be "color blind," and announced that his dissent one day would become the majority opinion of the court.

The court which the present Judge Harlan will join if confirmed by the Senate upheld his grandfather's point of view last May 17 when it ruled against segregation in the public schools. Unless his confirmation is delayed, the grandson will take part in the proceedings to implement last May's decision.

Judge Harlan's background is Republican and legal. His appointment will bring the number of Republicans on the nine-man bench to three, and if the evidence is to be trusted, might add a judge to the list of the justices.

Nations Join in Salute To U.S. Marine Corps

Today is the 179th anniversary of the U. S. Marine Corps. On Nov. 10, 1775, this proud component of the nation's armed forces was established and the record it has written since will forever reflect glory upon the men of the corps, past, present and future.

There is something different about the Marine. Undergoing the most rigorous training of any of the fighting services, he achieves that intangible something that he calls "esprit". He detests the word "morale".

There is a jauntiness about the Marine in battle—a recklessness that distinguishes him and makes him the envy of all the fighting men of every nation. He is a feared and respected foe and the traditions of the Marine Corps are a trust he keeps.

Their comrades of the Navy, the Army and the Air Force join the nation in saluting the men of the U. S. Marine Corps today. They share in the pride that is part and parcel of America—the fighting spirit that refuses to admit defeat.

Memphis Commercial-Appeal Irrigation of Cotton Increases the Yield

The Agricultural Situation, a monthly publication of the Agricultural Marketing Service, has recently made a study of income on family-operated farms which results in a pair of highly interesting figures.

It shows that last year's cotton crop on the high plains section of Texas produced what might be considered wages at $2.95 per hour on irrigated farms. It was the highest hourly income of the groups studied, except for the winter wheat growers of the Northwest.

Right beside the figure is another for non-irrigated family-operated cotton farms in the same high plains section of Texas. Their efforts resulted in a loss of $1.04 an hour, the heaviest loss in the whole list.

But apparently the Department of Agriculture researcher had an idea that such a contrast and the words "family-operated" might encourage too fast a rush of small farmers, toward the promise of irrigated profits. For he observes that "with modern equipment and techniques, the most economic size of farms is continually becoming larger."

Now That the Election Is Over, Eisenhower Should Act as President of All the People

Atlanta—Now that the election is over and the Democrats have won control of both Houses and 8 more governorships, it is time for the Republicans to be sober-minded and stop accusing the Democrats of being soft on communism.

It is also high time Nixon refrained from using the so-called subversives-in-government issue in order to get votes.

For his part President Eisenhower should now act as President of all the people and not as leader of the Republican party to bring harmony with the Democrats and create an atmosphere of goodwill throughout the nation.

JOSEPH D. FRANCO.

Calls Sen. McCarthy Big Election Loser

Mount Vernon, N.Y. — The biggest loser in the election was Sen. McCarthy. His staunchest supporter among the congressmen from his home state was Rep. Kersten, who was defeated by a Democrat.

The Republican candidate for the Senate who was most vigorous in proclaiming support for McCarthy was Mr. Meek, in Illinois, who was defeated by liberal Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas.

Mr. Case, in New Jersey, who was the object of a vicious attack on him through his sister for whose defeat the reactionary McCarthy Republicans were working, has apparently been elected. His victory is all the more amazing because of the background of Republican corruption in New Jersey, and proves that McCarthy's attacks helped rather than hurt him.

ALFRED BAKER LEWIS.

Says Fate of State Trembles in Balance

Rome—As our President has his Richard Nixon, so Gov.-elect Griffin has his Talmadge to lean upon. Arent this situation what shall be done?

With the fate of our state trembling in the balance, we hope our assembly shall wisely legislate and save us from the 4th Amendment's dire estate.

ADDIE STOKES MITCHELL.

Let's Forget Bitterness And Move Forward

Bethlehem — The majority has spoken in popular vote, so this time there can be no cries of "unit vote rule".

I believe the people of our state can forget the bitterness of the past few weeks and go forward with their work in harmony and friendliness with each other. This is as it should be, so let's all work

French Debate Role Played By Premier Mendes-France

In the Wall Street Journal

PARIS—A modern Messiah or a dangerous demagogue? Frenchmen are heatedly arguing about which of these two roles Premier Mendes-France will come closest to playing in history.

Thousands hopefully regard the premier as the one man who can put this country back on its feet as a strong and independent world power. A smaller but influential group—including the disillusioned French statesmen who backed United States policies in former governments—considers him a dangerous left-wing politician who is playing for public acclaim.

Fans and foes are agreed, however, that he is the most dynamic French government chief in many a day. His working schedule alone is evidence of that.

His fans particularly approve the "realistic" fast-action foreign policy he has adopted with the avowed purpose of making France strong internally. They praise him for his accomplishment at Geneva, where he brought to an end the French fight for Indo-China in which Frenchmen had little practical interest and saw no hope for victory. They praise him for his work at London, where he refused to agree to German rearmament unless the British greatly increased their commitments on the Continent—the only condition under which Frenchmen can contemplate the prospect of German troops with relative calm.

Many young people are getting behind Mendes-France because he calls for a break with the past in politics and economics. Many older people respect him because he was one of the Frenchmen who refused to accept defeat in 1940. French intellectuals and working classes respect the Premier for his record as an expert in economic and social problems. And although his Egyptian wife is very wealthy, he himself is free of the "big business" associations which prevented such premiers as Joseph Laniel from obtaining working-class support. This month he further tightened his grip on the workers by decreeing an increase in the nation's minimum wage.

In contrast to the exuberance of his supporters, the former French leaders who are now in opposition to Mendes-France take quite a different view of the Premier's "successes" and his bustling activity. "We too could have bought peace in Indo-China by selling half the country to the Communists," says one of these dejected men. "We too could have proposed a system of German rearmament which the British would join—by abandoning our plans for the real integration of Western Europe."

"What we can't understand," adds another French politician "is why the Americans now sympathize with Mendes-France. For years Washington told our governments that there was no substitute for the European Defense Community treaty and that if we didn't ratify it we couldn't expect more U.S. aid. We thought we could ratify it eventually, but when Mendes-France came along and abandoned it, the American press and officials completely changed their position and made him a hero."

Such critics contend nothing Mendes-France does will strengthen the French economy for long unless he cuts government spending. They maintain that otherwise another huge, inflation-packed budget deficit is in the offing this year.

Mendes-France's youthful and devoted entourage defends the Premier against these charges on the ground, among others, that this is the first "do-something" government since the war. It certainly seems to be that. But whether what the Premier is doing will lead to left-wing statism or the promised land of peace and prosperity is as yet too soon to say for sure.

A Confused Lesson In Basic Economics

Co-worker of mine came in the office the other day carrying a couple of cartons of fresh eggs and looking sheepish. Did I want to buy any fresh eggs, he said. He was doing a little egg peddling on the side. The Republicans had driven him to it. It was Ike's fault, he said. Ike and Br'er Benson.

What happened was this. He had a son, boy about 15 years old, who wanted to make some dough. So he got him about 500 laying hens, and started selling eggs, through a Co-op. Made some money, too.

Then the Republicans started tinkering around with parity, and stuff like that. They cut the price support out from under beef, so good meat was cheaper in the market, which meant that people who had been eating chicken because they couldn't afford beef, quit eating chicken and started eating beef.

That knocked the bottom out from under the broiler market. When the broiler market fell, the big chicken processors who furnish the growers baby chicks and feed, and what not, quit furnishing so many baby chicks to the growers. That meant that the chicken growers who produced eggs for the hatcheries quit selling their eggs as hatching eggs, and started selling them as eating eggs. And with all these eating eggs coming into the stores, the bottom dropped out from under the egg market.

Which caught my friend's son in a squeeze. There he had 500 hens laying 300 eggs a day, and eating their foot heads off, and he wasn't getting enough for his eggs to pay for the chicken feed.

So that's why my friend is going around over the building, looking morose, peddling eggs and cussing Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Benson.

I helped him fuss at them for a while. Then I happened to think. I didn't raise beef, or broilers, or eggs. All I do is buy them and eat them. So if the price falls, that helps me. That saves me money.

So I quit fussing about Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Benson. Which just goes to show, I guess that in politics, you can't please everybody. And when you start tinkering with things, you are liable to help me, and hurt my neighbor. Or vice versa.

Detroit Free-Press

The current average level of auto production between five and six million units annually will not long be enough to serve the nation. But America's highway system has just about reached the saturation point in the volume of traffic it can handle. Unless it is expanded and modernized, there will be no room on the roads and streets for the additional cars which the greater population will require. The choice, then, is to expand our highway system or face industrial stagnation.

The Hill of Golgotha Inspired Jan Styka

High on a hill overlooking Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Los Angeles stands a magnificent building for the sole purpose of showing to the world one painting. I measure my words when I say nothing I have ever seen has stirred my heart more deeply. It is Jan Styka's great masterpiece, "The Crucifixion."

In fact, the life of the painting itself is a parallel to the life of the Saviour.

It was born with great hope and promise; it lived a brief life; it died and then it was reborn to a new and greater existence.

Its beginning was in the year of 1894. Paderewski, a young musician at the time, stood one day before a gigantic painting showing the struggle of his beloved Poland for freedom from Russia. His emotions were deeply stirred and in that moment there came into his mind the thought of an even greater painting—Christ's sacrifice on the cross. He felt such a picture would overwhelm the pride and arrogance of man and lead him to faith in Christ.

Immediately Paderewski went to his friend, Jan Styka, a young but gifted artist. Styka, too, saw the vision and he was not disobedient to it. He set about immediately to plan the painting.

It must be gigantic in size, dramatic in style and created to impress forever the great lesson of the Crucifixion upon all who might see it. The painting was to be 45 feet high and 195 feet long. It stood on end, it would reach as high as an 11-story building.

Before he set a brush to canvas, he journeyed to the Holy Land. There for many months he studied, explored, talked to people and drew sketches. He knew the story in detail; he fixed clearly in his mind all the characters who had a part in that greatest of all dramas; he could see the physical setting there at Calvary. Yet, he could not decide exactly how to show The Lord.

One day as he climbed The Hill to stand where the Cross stood, an overpowering inspiration came upon him. For centuries the artists had shown Christ on the Cross. But Styka saw an even more dramatic moment—it was the moment of suspense just before the crucifixion.

It was the moment when Christ had fully understood and accepted God's answer to His prayer—"If it be possible, let this cup pass from me" (Matt. 26:39). It was the moment when the death that awaited him lost its terror in a mighty triumph of faith.

In the center of the painting stands The Lord, calm and serene. He is looking above the crowd into the sky. The cross lies at His feet. The mob thinks the world will soon be rid of Him.

But He knows the truth of His own words, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me" (John 12:32). The victory He will gain is worth the price He will pay.

Thomas L. Stokes

Democrats Facing New Test of Unity

WASHINGTON—Democrats face a test of party unity even before they assume control of the 84th Congress in January.

This will be in election of a new chairman of the Democratic National Committee. A successor to retiring chairman Stephen A. Mitchell will be chosen at a meeting of the committee which Mr. Mitchell has called in New Orleans on Dec. 4.

The decision is important because the new chairman will have direction of organizational activity looking to the 1956 presidential election. It is the latter event which complicates the job of picking a new chairman because of the rivalries within the party for the 1956 nomination. Due care must be given also to the conflicting conservative and progressive elements in the party.

The choice of a chairman is, indeed, a negative sort of process. He must satisfy all the candidates and divisions in the party that he can be neutral as to candidates and party philosophy.

Generally, so far as the chairmanship is concerned, the clash within the Democratic Party is between the party leadership in Congress, which is the actively operating nucleus between elections, and the state and local leaders upon whom the real job falls in elections.

Just now the Democratic leadership in Congress is feeling rather cocky because it will manage the new Congress. That leadership is top-heavy with Southern Democrats who will occupy most of the key posts. The Southern influence necessarily will be predominant in pressing for a new chairman satisfactory to the congressional leadership of the party.

Congress, too, has its share of aspirants for the 1956 presidential nomination and that tends to draw the line between the Congress insiders and the party leaders outside of Congress.

The outstanding figure outside of Congress, and the man in the party with the admitted greatest rank and file party support is, of course, Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 candidate. The retiring chairman, Stephen Mitchell, was picked by Mr. Stevenson to run his 1952 campaign, and he is withdrawing at his own initiative because he is a Stevenson partisan, avowedly and openly, for the 1956 nomination. He is stepping out so that he won't infringe the expected neutral position of a party chairman.

The new chairman to be chosen at New Orleans would serve until after the 1956 convention when the candidate nominated there will pick his own chairman to conduct the campaign, which is accepted practice in both parties.

A number of candidates for the chairmanship are being suggested from outside of the congressional leadership's circle, some representing big city organizations, and nearly all geographically spotted in the East and industrial Middle West where Democrats showed the greatest revival of strength in the recent elections and which the party must recapture if it is to win the presidency in 1956.

Jenkins Calls

For Rookies

Qualification lists for policemen were opened Tuesday by Carl Paul, assistant personnel director, at the request of Police Chief Jenkins. The chief says he would like to begin training another class of candidates shortly and Paul says the lists will remain open until Nov. 19. Applicants must be between 21 and 35 years in age. Pay ranges from $244 monthly for beginners to $300 a month after five years. The chief says he needs from 20 to 25 more men.

German Line To Fly

American Convairs

BONN, Germany, Nov. 9 (AP)—The revived German airline Lufthansa will get four American Convair airliners this month, the Transport Ministry said tonight.

The two-engine aircraft—first to be owned by Germans since the war—will be flown from the United States to Hamburg, where they will be fitted out for service with the Lufthansa.

County Fund

Set Up for 8

New Deputies

The Fulton County Budget Commission followed two recommendations of the September-October grand jury Tuesday in providing additional employees for the county jail and the adult probation office.

The commission revised the budget estimate for the jail, formerly set at $234,640, to include about $25,000 for eight additional deputies at a monthly pay scale of $254, and enough funds to equip them with pistols and handcuffs.

County Manager A. E. Fuller said the deputies would be kept as long as is necessary for the county to use the present jail. When and if a new jail is constructed, a study will be made to see if supervisory jail guards may be reassigned, he added.

The recent grand jury, taking note of assault and sodomy cases arising in Fulton Tower as a result of obsolete cells and overcrowding, recommended that enough deputies be provided immediately to "police each floor of the jail 24 hours a day."

The jury said the deputies should be provided until new facilities are available. Fuller pointed out that although a county commission committee already is studying construction of a new jail, the county cannot say at this time when it will be constructed. Once the new jail is ready, however, and payrolls are revised, newest employees would be the first to be cut from payrolls, he added.

The budget group also added approximately $8,000 to the adult probation office budget to provide

2 Atlantans First Indicted

Under New Felony Ruling

Two Atlanta men arrested Oct. 26 in connection with a burglary at an Atlanta box factory Tuesday became the first to be indicted under provisions of a new state law which provides maximum jail sentences for persons with three previous felony convictions.

They are Harry K. South, 36, of 516 N. Victory St., East Point, and James Pope Kryder, 46, of 424 North Ave., N.E. The burglary indictments set out previous felony convictions of both.

The new law, enacted by the November session of the General Assembly in 1953 requires upon conviction a defendant with three previous felony convictions to serve the maximum jail sentence for a felony before becoming eligible for parole.

LIST OF CONVICTIONS

The South indictment charges him with five previous felony convictions, all of which were in Fulton Superior Court. The convictions were listed as two in 1944, one in 1945, and two in 1950.

The indictment against Kryder lists six previous felony convictions, including two on federal charges in 1938 and 1948. The others were listed as occurring in Clarke County in 1929, Fulton in 1937, Coweta in 1946, and Fulton in 1948.

Under the new law, each could four additional employees recommended by the jury and by the judges of Superior Court. The employees include two probation officers and two clerks.

Meanwhile, Fuller said the budget panel had completed its hearings and would release final estimates on the 1955 budget estimate Nov. 17 when the budget will be presented to the county commissioners.

Five new jurors were also sworn in Tuesday for the November-December term. When the jury began operating last week, only 21 jurors—the minimum necessary to conduct business is 18—were on hand. Three of these had legal excuses to be dismissed.

So, Fulton Superior Judge E. E. Andrews asked them to serve a week until replacement jurors could be selected.

SOLAR MACHINE CONVERTS LIGHT TO POWER.
General Motors Lecturer Jack Martin Demonstrates Operation

Science Circus Shows Magic of Modern Day

Science marched into Atlanta Tuesday with all the fanfare of a three-ring circus.

It was the General Motors Parade of Science, here to display test-tube and mechanical magic in a seven-day show which will open at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the polo grounds in Piedmont Park.

The "science circus" rolled into town in a 44-vehicle parade, led by a fleet of "trucks of tomorrow." The 12 "Futuriners" contain most of the "magic" to be used in the show. Their sides will open out to form a stage on the body of the truck.

Featured attraction will be a solar motor which operates on heat and light from the sun. It was designed, not as a practical operating unit, but simply to prove that energy from light can be converted to practical power, scientists said.

WORKS FROM HEAT

The motor does not need direct light from the sun, but can operate by the heat from a 150-watt lamp. Rays from the lamp are directed on a series of photo-voltaic cells, similar to the cells used in a photographic exposure meter. The cells convert the heat from the lamp into electricity, turning the motor.

The show will also present special exhibits depicting scientific progress in the nation.

Atlanta businessmen and civic leaders will gather for a special showing at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, and the public exhibition will start at 9 p.m. Public showings will be held from 2 till 10 p.m. Thursday through Tuesday.

HIGH SCHOOLERS

At 10 a.m. Thursday, 200 high school science students from the Fulton County school system and 500 from the DeKalb County system will see the exhibit. At 9 a.m. Monday 1,500 Grady High School students will be guests and 40 Smith-Hughes Vocational

Advertising Men Protest Zoning Curb on Signs

By HERMAN HANCOCK

A proposal to limit advertising signs in C-2 business areas to establishments located there resulted in a sharp protest Tuesday as the Aldermanic Board's zoning committee held a second hearing on proposed new zoning ordinances and land use maps.

Ald. Hamilton Douglas finally told protesting advertising representatives that no definite action would be taken on the proposal without another hearing, but Ald. Milton Farris, committee member, indicated advertising experts must show a "need" for space in such areas rather than the desirability.

Attorney Henry Troutman Jr. led the large delegation of advertising men at the hearing which also was spiced by appearance of more than 50 persons connected with laundries, who urged establishment of small, community laundries in every community shopping center.

Mrs. Aileen McDargh, executive secretary of the Laundry and Cleaners Assn., and others said laundries no longer can be confined to industrial areas, that they are no longer nuisances but essential, that gas has replaced other types of fuels, and that such operations are odorless.

She said that the size of laundries can be limited by specifying horsepower of boilers, thus barring installations which might prove objectionable. The committee took the proposal under advisement.

At one point in the discussion of signs, F. R. Butts urged the committee to "stick to the restriction and let the advertising men scratch for it."

Fulton County Commissioner Tom Camp represented the laundry association, and argued that a restriction of laundries to industrial zones is not a realistic approach to the desires of housewives or the economy of operation of modern laundry facilities.

Leo Sherard, of 1374 Stewart Ave. SW, led a delegation asking business zoning for Stewart avenue between Dill and Genessee avenues; J. P. Norton, of 3125 Campbellton Rd., SW, asked business zoning in the area of Mt. Gilead and Campbellton roads, SW; attorney Mildred Kingloff urged business zoning for two lots in the Adamsville section.

CLOWN "STRETCHES" CHEST LEADER SMITH

Chest Drive $337,844 Short With 3 More Days To Go

Atlanta Community Chest workers have "just three days grace" to raise $337,844 to achieve their Red Feather goal.

Volunteers hope to meet a scheduled Friday "Victory Night" celebration—but reported only $1.7 per cent of their $1,833,545 quota at a report luncheon here Tuesday.

The sum was boosted, however, after the luncheon when it was announced that civilian and Army personnel at Third Army Headquarters had raised a contribution of $13,300.

Sa-Sa Chapman, Shrine Circus clown who cut some monkey-shines at the luncheon, got a laugh when he tried to "stretch" Edward D. Smith, president of Metropolitan Atlanta Community Services, to meet the 100 per cent mark on a huge chart. But Smith pointed out:

"Atlantans will have to stretch their own Red Feather fund!"

Tuesday's $1,497,701 total included a whopping $75,488 brought in by Tri-Cities and South Fulton Division, first complete division to top its goal. This division reported 105.5 per cent of its quota.

Two individual groups within other divisions which have not yet made total goals reported individual victories. The Atlanta Police Department and Metropolitan YMCA both are "over the top." The Negro Division, with 92 per cent of its quota, and the Armed Services Division, with 91 per cent, trailed Tri-Cities and South Fulton Division.

Rabbi Jacob Rothschild of The Temple praised spirit of Community Chest givers Tuesday. Also appearing on the luncheon program were Charlie Basile, Shrine Circus emcee; Pat Anthony, lion trainer, and Joe Basville, conductor of TV's "Big Top" circus band, currently appearing at the Shrine Circus here.

Straw Saves Life In 40-Foot Fall

A bed of straw Tuesday saved the life of Lewis Eugene Parker, 19, of Rte. 1, Douglasville, a worker engaged in dismantling the old Atlanta Theater building at 37 Exchange Pl., police said.

Parker was working on a scaffold high in the air. Ptl. J. V. Linn and J. C. Smith said a rope holding the scaffold slipped, causing the youth to fall.

He landed 40 feet below on a platform covered with straw. Patrolmen said the straw broke the fall and Parker escaped with a back injury that was not believed to be serious.

Death Ends Real-Life Love Story

The real-life love story of a young man and woman who were married despite his hopeless illness ended with the husband's death here Tuesday.

C. A. Truitt of Bremen, 22-year-old graduate of Georgia Tech, died in an Atlanta hospital of leukemia.

He never knew he had the fatal disease.

His bride, the former Betty Jo Carroll of Bremen, learned that he was hopelessly ill just a few days before their wedding was to take place last Jan. 17.

Betty Jo, a pretty, dark-haired girl, also 22, insisted that they go ahead with the wedding as planned. She didn't want her fiancé to know that his days were numbered.

Her sunny disposition and "remarkable courage" helped her keep the secret, friends said. They explained her husband thought he had chronic anemia and didn't suspect his condition was serious.

245-Car Garage, Freeway Parking Lot Okayed

A parking lot to expedite express bus operations on the north expressway and a 245-car parking garage at the north-west corner of Peachtree and Cain streets were approved by the City Traffic Commission Tuesday.

In another action, the commission deferred action on a proposal to bar funeral processions from expressways, but indicated it is ready to recommend prohibition of bicycles, motor scooters and pedestrians.

John Gerson, executive vice president of the Atlanta Transit System, Inc., is sponsor of the 100-car parking lot at Piedmont road and Morosgo drive, NE, as a starter for express bus operations to that section, Metropolitan Transit System, Inc.

Under the plan, auto owners will be urged to leave their cars at the parking lot while they take buses to work or shopping. The plan is designed to keep cars off streets, relieve congestion and provide a convenient, fast service. Parking will be free.

The new garage will be a nine-level facility and will be built by Arthur McIntyre Jr. and C. B. Brewer.

Traffic Engineer Karl Bevins submitted a list of 88 intersections where he said surveys indicate traffic signal lights are justified. He said the list was made up from requests for traffic lights at 370 locations.

"We think the 88 are justified under standard requirements," Bevins said. He added no priority list has been prepared and the installations must await 1955 appropriations.

He filed a special report on four signals asked by members of the aldermanic board. He said three—at Moore's Mill road and Northside drive, NE, Westmont road and at Avon avenue, SW, and North avenue and Seminole avenue, NE—are not justified since they do not meet minimum requirements. He said the fourth, at Moreland avenue and Fairview road, NE, does qualify and is included in those recommended.

Proposed speed zones and non-parking for Marietta Street from North avenue to Spring street were discussed, but no action taken. Bevins was authorized to continue his studies and to file recommendations later. At the present time parking is barred on the west side of the Marietta stretch from 7 until 9 a.m. and on the east side from 4 until 6 p.m., the rush hours. The new plan would bar parking on both sides of the stretch at all hours.

America's Finest, Fastest Airliner

When you step off a Delta-C&S Golden Crown DC-7 you've not only travelled faster than any other type of airliner could carry you, but you're feeling fresh as when you started. A thousand miles is nothing!

There are a lot of reasons for this. Your big DC-7 has a spacious cabin; you've had a scientifically designed seat, plenty of leg and elbow room—yes, and room to roam about. You've scarcely noticed any change of altitude and yet your Delta-C&S DC-7 has been travelling five miles above the earth, both to gain speed and avoid surface weather. Thus you've had the smoothest possible flight, and the perfected cabin pressurization and air conditioning have given your senses an impression of having spent a beautiful day in the country.

Of course, it has always been our aim to make your trip a pleasant experience from start to finish—and so it seems all too short. But Delta-C&S Golden Crown travel is wonderful! Try it and you'll love it!

Release of Davies' Record Is Refused by Dulles

Contains U.S. Secrets, He Says, But Reserves Final Decision

By WILMOT HERCHER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles refused today, for the time being at least, to make public the record in the ouster of diplomat John Paton Davies. Dulles declared publication would be against the public interest.

Davies, fired last Friday after 23 years in the U.S. diplomatic service, has called for publication of the full record in his case and has said he feels his rights might be impaired if this is not done. Dulles told his news conference he had not made a final decision on release of the record. But his feeling now, he said, is that full publication would reveal some state secrets, while partial publication would be unfair from several viewpoints.

The secretary added it was wholly out of the question that a preventive war with the Soviet Union ever could be accepted as United States policy. President Eisenhower has made this abundantly clear, he said.

This apparently was in reference to Davies' statement last week that he would welcome having the record made public — "including my 1950 recommendations that we seek a preventive showdown with the Soviet Union."

This Davies statement was by way of reply to critics who contend the policies he advocated while in China helped pave the way for the Communist conquest of that country. Davies has for years been criticized by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and others.

Davies was recalled from his consular post at Lima, Peru, last week and told by Dulles that he was being dismissed because he had shown a "definite lack of judgment, discretion and reliability." In acting, Dulles followed the recommendations of a special five-man inquiry board.

Dulles said there was no question of the loyalty of Davies, who had survived eight loyalty-security investigations during the Truman administration.

Dulles was questioned closely by newsmen about the inquiry board's finding that Davies went beyond "privileged boundaries" in making his views known. Asked whether this meant that foreign service officers should avoid relations with the press, the secretary said there was no rule of thumb, that it was up to the good judgment of foreign service officers.

Competing With TV, Say Publishers

BOCA RATON, Fla., Nov. 9 (AP)—Southern newspapers are successfully competing with television for the attention of the news-seeking public, a publishers' meeting was told today.

Delegates to the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Assn. agreed in a round-table discussion that most of the large daily newspapers in the South increased both their circulation and revenue last year.

They said, however, that morning papers are growing faster than evening papers.

MORE PICTURES Many of the publishers said they had taken some means of keeping the readers' attention despite the growth of the television industry.

Thomas L. Robinson of the Charlotte (N.C.) News said his paper is now using more pictures and is sending reporters to cover more stories in the circulation area.

That eliminates many small personal items which formerly were sent to the paper, he said, because there is not room in the paper to print them.

But George C. Biggers, president of The Atlanta Constitution and Atlanta Journal, urged the publishers to keep their papers growing at least at the same rate as the population.

"KNOCK BRAINS OUT" "If we don't," he said, "television is apt to knock our brains out."

Walker Long, general manager of the Huntington (W.Va.) Herald Dispatch, said television has helped the growth of his newspapers. He said television programs have been used to promote the newspaper by the use of spot advertisements and sponsored programs.

He said, however, that his best circulation builder was a contest among his newsboys to see which of them could add at least one new subscriber each day for the longest time.

Used Gun Hidden in Bra To Shoot Husband, Death Trial Jury Told

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 9 (AP)—A one-time starlet testified today she pulled a pistol from her brassiere and shot her wealthy husband in self-defense after a violent honeymoon during which she could only keep him quiet by watering his vodka.

Once, shapely Mrs. Jean Marie Zint testified, the late Charles Zint tore off her dress in a taxi-cab. Again, she said, he came at her with a dagger. After she left him, he slit all her clothes in the closet, she added.

TALKS IN TEARS Mrs. Zint, 31, testified tearfully during the second day of her trial on charges of first degree murder in the slaying of Zint, 53-year-old Chicago industrialist on Sept. 18, 1953.

Assistant State Atty. Joe Price said he would attempt to show that the strawberry-blond defendant shot her husband with "premeditated design" in their walkup apartment two months after their marriage.

But Mrs. Zint said the shooting followed a daylong bout of drinking and quarreling.

She said she went to the apartment to pack her suitcase, noticed a pistol and "put it in my bra."

LEFT ROOM "Charlie started coming toward me. He pushed me to the floor. He said he was going to kill me. He went into the bedroom for a second . . . I pulled the gun out of my bra."

"He is rushing at me," she said excitedly. "He's coming close. I'm shaking. When I squeezed it, it fired."

Mrs. Zint paused to dry her eyes and blow her nose loudly.

"Then I backed away and he walked back into the kitchen," she resumed. "He didn't even stagger. I didn't know I hit him."

She said she ran downstairs for help and "as I walked over to turn off the TV I heard him drop. But he's breathing. He's cursing. After a while he stopped mumbling and he remained quiet. I saw a little brown spot on his shirt . . . Just a little spot . . . Then I knew something was wrong."

TELLS OF RAGE Leading up to the day of the slaying, Mrs. Zint testified that her husband first became enraged at her when she went to a beauty shop during their New York honeymoon because "my brunette roots were showing."

She said she became embarrassed and tried to sneak away in a cab in Chinatown but Zint jumped in after her, tore off her blue lace dress and stomped her in the floor of the cab. He beat her again back at the hotel, she said, but broke his finger against her foot.

When she started to leave him, the witness continued, Zint cried for another chance so she went to Florida with him, first to a quiet fishing spot in the keys so her black eyes and swollen face could heal.

WATER IN VODKA By filling his vodka bottle with water, she said, she managed to keep Zint quiet in the Keys but once in Miami "I had a hard time getting food down him; all he wanted to do was drink."

The dagger incident came next, she said, but she evaded the knife when she tripped and fell.

Mrs. Zint moved into a motel. When she returned for her clothes, she said, Zint accused her of "sleeping with a man we know."

"It's ridiculous," she said. "The only thing I ever did with that man was to have a drink."

Again when she attempted to get her clothes, she said, she found Zint had taken a knife and slit them on their hangers.

DRINKS WITH BEST Under cross-examination, Mrs. Zint admitted she "can drink the best of them under the table" as Price hammered away at her testimony that she drank with her husband, "just to keep him in a good humor."

"I'd usually drink as long as they'd fill them up," she said when asked how many drinks she usually had in an evening.

When questioned as to whether she actually saw a dagger in Zint's hand, Mrs. Zint said her husband "came at me with something steel reflecting in his hand."

Price told the jury that no dagger was found at the scene.

Jobless Clerk Turns on Gas, Pens 25 Pages Before Dying

LAKE WALES, Fla., Nov. 9 (AP)—An unemployed hotel clerk turned on the gas in his apartment and wrote 25 pages detailing his reactions while waiting to die.

James Hance, 49, was found in his gas-filled apartment Monday after he had written that he had only 10 minutes more to live. He died on the way to a hospital.

Hance turned on the gas at 11 a.m. and was found two hours and 20 minutes later.

In a farewell letter describing the sensations of approaching death, he wrote:

The first fumes caused a burning sensation in the eyes and nose, but, "It's not bad. The smell is not at all distasteful."

LAST CIGARETTE "It is now noon and I can begin to smell it."

"I'm smoking my last cigarette and I don't want to blow the place up."

"12:45 and my eyes burn like hell."

Then he wrote of getting a headache and at 1:05 of becoming dizzy. At that time his heart began pounding heavily and his ears buzzed.

CLOUDING UP FAST Later he wrote of grogginess and being unable to hold a pencil in his hand.

"It is clouding up fast . . . I figure I have about 10 minutes more so the time will be about 1:30. I am almost losing my nerve. . . . I think there's enough gas in here so I'll try to turn it

He Shuns Me Now That He's a Success, Actor Purdom's Wife Says After Rift

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP)—Edmund Purdom and his wife, Tita, separated today and she blamed the rift on the actor's sudden rise to fame.

"We had four years of poverty and misery and we clung together like babes in the woods," the former ballet dancer said. "But when Ed became successful, it all changed."

The Purdoms lived in a garage apartment for many months while he sought work here. His first break came when Mario Lanza pre-recorded all the songs for "The Student Prince" and then balked at making the picture. In order to save a million dollars already spent on the picture, MGM used Purdom's acting and Lanza's voice.

Exhume Bodies of 2 Slain By Ex-Deputy in Russell

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Nov. 9 (AP)—The bodies of two men shot and killed in Phenix City within the past five years have been exhumed and the bullets removed under orders from officials heading the Phenix City vice cleanup and the A. L. Patterson murder investigation.

Both men were killed in the line of duty by former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller, National Guard Lt. Martin J. Wilman, chief criminal investigator for the military sheriff's office. Here, said the bullets will be matched against those taken from "other recent shooting victims in Phenix City."

The dead men exhumed were Clarence Franklin Johns, 26, killed Sept. 2, 1950, and Guy Wilson Hargett, 55, killed March 3, 1949.

WITH SYKES The man who accompanied Fuller when each man was killed — State Liquor Control Agent Ben Scroggins—was closeted this afternoon with Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes, who is heading the Patterson slaying investigation.

Dr. C. J. Rehling, state toxicologist, said today that bullets taken from the two bodies are in the custody of his department.

Hargett's body was exhumed last week from a grave in a cemetery at nearby Columbus, Ga. The body of Johns was exhumed Friday from a grave at Waycross, Ga. Both bodies were re-buried as soon as bullets were removed.

IN WAYCROSS Dr. Rehling said he was in Waycross for the exhumation of Johns' body, and one of his assistants took part in the exhumation at Columbus.

Ware County Coroner George Miller said Johns' casket was opened in his presence and an autopsy performed.

National Guard investigators also said Tuesday they have reopened an investigation into the death of Hargett's brother, Lloyd William (Pistol Pete) Hargett, 75, who died last year, reportedly of a heart attack.

SHOT IN CEMETERY Johns was shot to death by Fuller in a Negro cemetery at nearby Crawford, Ala., a few hours after the Manhattan Cafe here was robbed of $3,000 at gunpoint.

Hargett was shot to death by Fuller at his home. Fuller said he fired five shots into Hargett after Hargett fired once at him. The former deputy said he and Scroggins had gone to Hargett's home to investigate a case involving transportation of illegal liquor.

Fuller said in a telephone interview that he had no idea why the bodies were exhumed. He repeated that he is willing to take a lie detector test about any of his past activities.

He has already been indicted on charges of accepting bribes and vote fraud. His bonds total nearly $20,000.

Peiping Says U.S. Planes Over China

HONG KONG, Wednesday, Nov. 10—The Peiping Radio claimed this morning that six waves of United States military aircraft "intruded" over the Chekiang coastal areas of South-east China in 50 sorties last Sunday and Monday.

The broadcast denounced the alleged flights as "armed provocations" and "a renewed encroachment upon China's territorial air."

The Red China radio said that three waves of planes were intercepted and driven off by the Red air force Sunday while three other waves "fled" south-eastward Monday after drawing anti-aircraft fire. No claims were made of any planes being shot down or damaged.

"This serious encroachment on Chinese territorial air greatly incensed the officers and men of the armed forces guarding the Chekiang front," the Peiping radio said in an English language transmission.

"They are closely watching development of the situation and are ready to deal heavy blows

The 'Lemon' Bowl

For what it's worth: And may I suggest that Miami, with its Big Seven-ACC cast of "seconds," rechristen the Orange Bowl the Lemon Bowl? They've played into the hands of the Gator Bowl with their two-conference contractual arrangement that has hitched their baby to a mud scow. Now it's a question of which is the No. 1 bowl in Florida. . . . Just in case everything doesn't work out perfectly for the Bulldogs these last two rounds, how'd you like Georgia-West Virginia for a Gator Bowl menu?

This bowl pattern of restricting team appearances seems nothing less than idiotic to me. Why should UCLA be off limits to the Rose Bowl because it played there last year? If you're the champ, you're the champ, and why shouldn't best meet best? It's the only situation I know in which you're penalized for winning a title. . . . Except in the boxing industry, where a new champ is liable to find himself handcuffed by a ring of backroom thugs. . . . And whatever became of Bruce Woodcock?

Bisher

body went home relieved, UNC about its pride and the Baptists because one of their "money" games was saved. . . . That Lee Mackey who led the Southeastern PGA briefly the other day is the same startling one-shot ace who still holds the National Open record with a 64 in 1950. His next round score: 40-41-81.

Most unusual golf course in the world: A nine-hole at Wake Island which is six feet under the Pacific Ocean when the tide is in. . . . Earl Stewart, the little pro who has had enough of the golf circuit, found a job in his own backyard. He'll settle down as the teacher at Oak Cliff club in Dallas, Texas. . . . When I think of field trials I always think of the young chap sent out to cover his first one in a freshman year in Atlanta. Bewildered by it all, he wired in with poetic sincerity: "It's a mystery to me. Use AP."

—Smith Takes His Stand on Hamner

Saddest figure in the shambles of the Mack Athletics is Earle Mack Sr. He's a 60-year-old who must find a new career at an advanced age. He'd hoped to leave his part of the A's as his son's legacy. . . . Bob Carpenter of the Phils exhibited some commendable sentiment. He'll retain the name "Connie Mack Stadium" over the park he didn't want to buy. . . . Mayo Smith made it pretty clear where he stands in the Hamner case when he deleted the rank of captain from the Phils' chain of command. Hamner is the ex-captain.

Mel Farnell is in the extermination business. In New Orleans this winter. Down there they say he had to do it before the bar he's invested in exterminated him. . . . Every ball player with a little success fancies himself a professor. Virgil Trucks has set up one of those baseball schools in Auburn-dale, Fla. His leading feature: Old tourist Len Haneler, who'll probably teach left-handed catching. . . . And whatever became of Adolph Arlt, who played the only left-handed third base I ever saw while he managed Moultrie?

Miami U.'s got it figured that if every back made his average on every play, nobody would ever stop the Hurricane. As a team, they've averaged 5.33 yards per offensive maneuver. . . . Georgia's thinnest at ends this season, but there's a sterling crop of freshmen coming up, including Ken Cooper and Lindsey Bass of Tifton, R. K. Brown of Atlanta Northside and Bill Watkins of Southwest DeKalb. And only Joe O'Malley graduates. (ONLY Joe O'Malley?) . . . Budd Schulberg, the boxing author, owns a piece of a rising new heavyweight named Archie McBride. At present McBride's the champ of all he surveys, but his range is limited to New Jersey.

—Bo Hagan, the New Offense at SMU

Hey, there's dissension in the usually peaceful cross country field. N.C. State refuses to run in the Atlantic Coast Conference meet because they figured they had the title already won on a dual meet basis. . . . Boxing match of the season: Soo-Wilde, a TV prelim the other night. . . . Connie Ryan's becoming the Chuck Dessen of the minor league managerial employment bureau. Dessen was mentioned for a dozen jobs before he landed in Washington. (With the Griffiths, not the Democrats). Ryan has been "named" manager of New Orleans, Birmingham and Memphis by some source or another.

MAIL CALL: "We ex-Georgians have been following your football predictions diligently and we have discovered that Georgia has crossed you more than any other team. As a favor to us over here in Alabama, please pick the 'War Eagle' Saturday."—H. H. Huey, Nofsoulga, Ala. . . . "The prestige of our Eastern colleges does not center about the loss or the victory in a game. . . . With the Ivy League, football is not the be-all or end-all. . . . Regardless of the scores, no competition of teams here in the South can give the thrill and color derived from a Princeton-Cornell, Harvard-Yale or Dartmouth-Navy game."—Mrs. Charlotte Webb, Athens, Ga.

Southern Methodist people are quite frank about Bo Hagan's responsibility for the Mustangs' rising-up this season. The refugee from Georgia Tech is the man behind their offense. . . . After two seasons of belief in the 22-man football team, Auburn is now convinced that you can only play 11 men at one time. . . . It's nice about the new romance of Marlon Brando and his French doll. Joe and Marilyn were needing a little headline competition. They were getting complacent, losing their incentive. . . . Selah.

CLASS A DENVER JUST SITS AND WAITS FOR AAA INVITE

DENVER, Nov. 9 (U)—A red-hot minor league city in post-war years, Denver is sitting back and waiting to be asked to step into faster baseball company.

For weeks the Colorado capital has been considered a leading contender for a berth in the American Assn., once the Philadelphia Athletics were transferred to Kansas City. But so far, the city administration, the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations have made no effort to crank up any official campaign to bring triple-A baseball to Denver. Such a drive is now under way in Omaha.

Denver has a spacious ball park, a history of excellent attendance and a record of championships to justify a leap from the Class A Western League to higher classification.

But Bob Howsam, president of the Denver Bears, says he can't make a move until invited by the American Assn., or possibly, by some other higher-rated league.

"Under baseball rules, any overtures in a situation such as this must come from the American Assn. to the Western League," Howsam said.

BOXING MONOPOLY CASE GETS SUPREME COURT AIRING TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (U)—The government goes before the Supreme Court tomorrow in a move aimed at breaking up what the Justice Department labels a monopoly in boxing.

The high court set aside two hours tomorrow afternoon for argument of the case in which the Department contends the International Boxing Clubs of New York and Illinois, Madison Square Garden and their directors are violating the nation's anti-trust laws.

This action is an appeal from a ruling by the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, which used the Supreme Court's historic baseball rulings as its basis for throwing out the government's suit.

In addition to the Garden and the two IBC outfits, the government's suit names as defendants James D. Norris, president of Boxing Clubs in New York and Chicago, and Arthur M. Wirtz, who is Norris' partner in running the Chicago Stadium and its subsidiaries.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (U)—The new Kansas City franchise in the American League will keep the three minor league clubs owned by its predecessor—Ottawa, Savannah, Ga., and Lancaster, Pa.—as a nucleus for an expanded farm system.

Johnson didn't close the book with Boudreau, however. He said he expected to talk with several others. Asked about the status of Eddie Joost, the 1954 manager, he said he still was under consideration.

"I have made some inquiries about a general manager," he said. "But I definitely have not offered anybody a job."

The handsome 47-year-old Chicago industrialist shied away from any talk about player changes on the club. "I hope I know enough to hire the right people who know about things like that," he said. "Certainly changes will be made. Look where the club finished last season (last). We have embarked a million dollars for rebuilding the club."

Johnson said the farm system would be expanded beyond the present links. He has not made any definite plans on the farm organization, preferring to leave it in the hands of his general manager when named.

Bill Dewitt, assistant to general manager George Weiss of the New York Yankees, is a leading candidate for the post.

AUBURN, CINCY GAME 'COOLS OFF'

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9 (U)—

Someone, no one seems to know just who, got a bit premature today and had the University of Cincinnati and Auburn practically signed, sealed and delivered to play football here next fall in the first of a series of 10 annual Shrine benefit games.

Actually, the idea of the Shrine games with major teams coming in to play UC is in the works and Auburn was a top possibility for the 1955 game.

M. Charles Milleham, UC athletic director, said tonight, however, that the Auburn deal is "cooling off" because Auburn is seeking too great a guarantee.

Jeff Beard, athletic director at Auburn, also said there had been talk of the game but that "we couldn't get together."

Milleham said Auburn was

'Foots' Is Well Now, Wants FB Job Back

O'Malley Shaken in Practice;
Harris Seeks Columbus Role

By DEWEY BENEFIELD

ATHENS, Nov. 9—The Georgia football camp Tuesday was gladdened by news that Bob (Foots) Clemens is hale and hearty again.

The big fullback donned pads for his first full-scale knocking session since he bruised a hip against Tulane three weekends ago. Foots was unable to scrimmage before the Alabama game, and surrendered the starting post to Bobby Garrard.

But Foots ran hard and gained a little ground against Alabama and again against Florida even though he was unable to work on his timing and he had not scrimmaged in weeks.

Tuesday trainer Sam Richwine declared the hip sufficiently healed and gave Foots back his pads. The Scottsboro, Ala., senior celebrated the occasion by ripping holes through the freshman defense.

One of Foots' best rushing days was against Auburn last year when he galloped for 57 yards before being hauled down shy of the goal. Seconds later he bucked it over.

Although Foots showed well, Garrard put on a pile-driving exhibition at fullback to show that he had no intention of retiring gracefully from that post.

Still a third fullback, sophomore Knox Culpepper of Columbus, was striking hard and often in a bid for increased service before the home folks Saturday.

The Georgia back that wants most to make a good showing against the Palmenians is sophomore right halfback Charlie Harris of Goodwater, Ala.

When Charlie graduated from high school his ambition was to play football for Auburn. But they turned him down on account of his size and he wound up on the Georgia Bulldogs of 1950.

Starting ahead of Harris is another Alabamian—senior Charlie Madison of Atmore.

SCRIMMAGE SCRAPS—The Bulldogs were a little ragged when they began defensive work against Auburn plays, but improved as the afternoon aged. . . . Captain Joe O'Malley caused hearts to jump when he got up groaning after a pileup. But he soon returned to the lineup.

The Bulldogs fired up after their 21-7 victory over Alabama—blocked hard and dented the varsity defense during the early minutes with Rennie Smith of West Point impersonating Auburn's quarterback Bobby Freeman, and end R. K. Brown playing the role of Jim Fyburn.

Sophomore end Laneair Roberts donned his mask and entered into the scrimmage despite his broken jaw. The boy simply wants to play football. . . . Jimmy Harper went the distance on a quarterback keep while the frosh secondary grabbed at thin air.

Phils' Collins Gets New Job, Keeps Old Title

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9 (AP). Roy Hamey, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, said today the club would not name a successor to Joe Reardon as farm director.

Hamey said that Eddie Collins Jr., who will carry on Reardon's work but will not be named the farm head's successor. Reardon resigned yesterday without offering any explanation. He said merely that he intended to remain in baseball.

Donaldson Hobbles on Bum Ankle; Tulane's Scofield, Hof Out Saturday

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

Halfback Corky Tharp and end Paul Donaldson, both injured in the 0-0 tie with Tulane, were back in sweat clothes again Tuesday as Alabama rolled through a rugged drill for Saturday's tussle with Georgia Tech.

Tharp, who has been hobbled by injuries this season, is expected to be ready for the nationally televised Tech game. Donaldson is still doubtful, al-

'Teamwork' Keeps UCLA Atop National Rankings

Bruising Bruins Up AP Margin; Miami, Purdue Bounced From Top 10

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—What keeps the UCLA Bruins in championship form? Coach Red Sanders was asked that today after his smooth, powerful club gained the No. 1 national ranking for the second straight week in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

His answer: Teamwork.

"There are two things that go to making up a good football team," the affable coach said, "enough good football players and a fine staff of assistants. I happen to be blessed with both.

Observers might add that a solid job of coaching has as much importance.

An even 300 votes were tabulated in the poll this week and 117 had the high scoring Uclans in first place as compared with 80 for Ohio State, which drew the second spot, followed by Oklahoma, Arkansas, Notre Dame and Army. Rounding out the top 10 in order are Mississippi, Southern California, Iowa and Navy.

How good are the Uclans?

"This is the best team I've ever coached. Period. Exclamation point," says Red. "To talk of 'team victories' may be rather trite, but in the truest sense this is a team. I don't think the players are conscious of scores or records. They are satisfied to win the games by any margin and don't care who does the scoring."

Miami of Florida and Purdue both dropped out of the top 10. The Hurricanes were beaten by Auburn and Purdue took a 25-14 beating from Iowa.

SOUTH: Maryland's Jim (Lucky) Tatum had a problem Tuesday, trying to pick a starting quarterback from old hand Charley Boxold and sudden flash Frank Tamburello. . . . Wake Forest halfbacks Bill Barnes, Bob Frederick and Dick Daniels shook loose on long "TD" runs as the Deacons drilled for Duke. . . . Scott Jackson was a pass-catching standout in Clemson workouts for Maryland. . . . Eric Tipton directed William and Mary workouts Tuesday in the absence of coach Jack Freeman, recovering from a Monday night emergency appendectomy. . . . Richmond moved Wayne Lieblech and Fred Everly into the tackle slots left vacant by injuries to regulars Clarence Keville and co-captain Bill Thacker. . . . Sophomore Nick Lawver stole ball-carrying honors in offensive workouts at Virginia. . . . VMI end Bobby Cooper, sidelined with a broken wrist, returned to Keydet practice Tuesday but is not expected to play against the Citadel Saturday. . . . VPI worked with a new backfield combo of quarterback Don Camp, halfbacks Howie Wright and Bobby Wolfenden and fullback Hayes Burleson. . . . North Carolina quarterback Albert Long, hurt vs. South Carolina, was in sweats as the Tar Heels prepped for Notre Dame. . . . South Carolina coach Rex Enright, worried about his defense, pointed out one strong point: the left tackle slot manned by Atlanta's Harry Lovell, who will be starting his 34th consecutive game Saturday.

EAST: Line coach Carney Lisle was in charge of Army practice once more, with head man Red Blak still in the post hospital undergoing treatment for a virus infection. . . . Senior left half Andy Romeo returned to Fordham practice. . . . Notre Dame's Don Shannon missed practice with a shoulder injury but is expected to start against North Carolina.

BIG TEN: Nebraska fullback Sylvester Harris was switched to end. . . . Indiana fullback John Barklewies, hurt in the 7-0 loss to Miami, Ohio, will start against Northwestern.

SOUTHWEST: Texas tackle Langford Sneed was shifted to left end. . . . Quarterback Elwood Kettler and guard Ray Barrett missed Texas A&M practice with injuries. . . . Co-captain Raymond Berry and Doyle Nix, a pair of first-string ends, sprained ankles during SMU workouts.

Al Andrews Meets Varona

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Al Andrews, Superior, Wis., youngster who kayaked Gil Turner in the first round six weeks ago, takes on fast-rising Chico Varona in a 10-rounder at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Another 10-rounder on the non-televised card will send a pair of hard-hitting heavyweight aspirants at each other—Bob Satterfield and Johnny Holman, both from Chicago.

Andrews and the 26-year-old Varona, a Cuban slugger who scored a 10-round victory over Johnny Bratton three weeks ago, will fight at 155 pounds.

Alabaman Jimmy Thompson Wants Tide Victory 'Most'

Leading SEC In Yds. Average

By BILL ALLEN

What hope for the Crimson Tide of Alabama when the man who leads the Southeastern Conference in average yards gained per play says he wants Tech to win this one worse than any game he ever heard of?

Jimmy Thompson, 167-pound Bessemer, Alabaman, is joined in that want by two other refugees from across the Coosa and Chattahoochee, senior end Jimmy Durham of Talladega and Frank Christy, sophomore tackle also from Bessemer.

But Durham, most likely, won't play. Christy will be there to add his clutch performance for the homefolks to the Tech line.

But this Thompson, who was probably the last backfield man anyone thought would climb to the top of the SEC ground-gaining averages and to seventh place in yards gained, can be the key to the outcome of the Tech-Alabama collision. Maybe just on his defensive play.

Despite the fact he played comparatively little until Bill Teas was dropped from the lineup, Thompson now leads Tech figures in three departments: 394 net yards rushing, 11.3 average yards, and the longest run from scrimmage — that 56-yard run against Auburn.

And, on defense he is in the same class with former Little Giants at Tech, Shorty Roberts, Jimmy Jordan, and may rival Jackie Rudolph, according to Coach Bobby Dodd.

"It's that timing," Dodd said, musing on the insurgent quality of the 19-year-old's play.

"Jimmy has the knack of tackling. I don't think I've seen him miss any of these big boys many times, and he's instinctive about pass defense. They've overthrown him once I think and he tackled the man. Every other pass thrown against him this year he's batted down, and he intercepted one for a seven-yard return."

The reason why a player five feet, six inches tall can effectively defend against much bigger pass receivers is easily explained:

"They don't realize, while they're out there trying to catch it, that Jimmy is in front of them and can jump as high as they do—and always at the right time."

On offense, it is not so much that being little, Jimmy has to stay away from the big linemen to keep from being hurt, Dodd said.

"It's that he's just naturally low to the ground—balanced there and harder to upset with that speed of his making up for what he gives away in size. He's butting those men down ahead of him, now, and pulling away from them."

Noting that "all the backs" will need some more of the "great offensive blocking" shown against Tennessee last week, the coaching staff went through the offensive book with the varsity.

FLAT NOTES: Wade Mitchell moved up to fifth place in the yards rushing department with 99 and a 2.3 average. He leads backs in tackles with 26, ahead of Rotenberg's 24 and is first in interceptions: three for 94 yards. . . . Franklin Brooks leads the team with 77 individual tackles. . . . Bill Brigan and Mitchell both are above the 50 per cent effective mark in passing with 36 for 71 and 25 for 50. . . . And, third-string varsity quarterback Teppy Vann, whose inexperience has kept him from playing much this year is probably unique in that he has a perfect record for the year: five passes and as many completions;

Alabama Holds Defensive Edge

Mississippi's Rebels hold first place in team offense and Alabama's goose-egging though gophered Crimson Tide paces Southeastern Conference defensive units in league statistics released Tuesday.

Led by Eagle Day, still the No. 1 yardage maker in the SEC, and sixth place Houston Patton, the Rebs headed Auburn's runnerup grid machine by a wide margin, averaging 355.6 yards per game as compared with the Plainsmen's 335.6.

Auburn surged on the shoulders of fullback Joe Childress, who took over second place among conference rushers. Tennessee's Tom Tracy is exactly 100 yards ahead of Childress in this week's figures, 403-583. Arthur Davis of Mississippi State is third.

Auburn's Jim Pyburn edged Georgia Tech's Henry Hair for the lead in pass receptions, 22-21. Behind Mississippi and Auburn in team offense came Alabama, Mississippi State and Georgia Tech.

Cal's Larson Nears Total Offense Lead

Shaw Holds 28-Yard Margin; Luppino Nation's Top Rusher

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Paul Larson, California's outstanding passer, has moved to within 28 yards of Oregon's George Shaw in a strong bid to retain his offense title in major college football.

While Shaw was stopped cold by UCLA Saturday, Larson, who had a great day against the unbeaten Uclans the week before, had a fine afternoon in leading the Bears to their 27-6 victory over Washington.

Shaw now has a total of 1,274 yards in Larson's 1,246. Each has two games to go.

In addition to his runnerup spot in total offense, Larson is far ahead in three passing departments and shooting for a record in time. His 104 completions, 1,239 yards, and 65.4 completion average are tops.

Purdue's Len Dawson, tied for third in completions with Stanford's John Brodie at 63, is the touchdown-pass leader with 14.

Art Luppino, Arizona sophomore who has been leading the rushers practically all season, also was stopped Saturday by

Golf for All

'Watch, Wait' Pays For Patient Gilliam

By Jimmy Mann

Several months ago a patient gentleman who answers to S. W. Gilliam was visiting local golf courses on Saturdays and Sunday, not playing, but watching others, "the better players," perform.

Gilliam never played. He liked and was satisfied with just trotting around after the others and seeing how they did in their battle with par.

"I thought I could do it too," he said. "I mean I thought I could be a low 70 player. But I knew I had to practice and not continue with my own lousy swing."

So for some months Gilliam visited the pros around town and got their instruction and ideas on playing golf. He had never broken 90 in his life. He practiced, practiced and practiced. Never played, just worked over a sometimes hot, sometimes cold practice tee.

Result: Gilliam had a 78 at North Fulton, a 76 at Bobby Jones and a 75 at North Decatur in that order on a Saturday, a Sunday and a Saturday.

East Lake's Pete Barnes enjoyed hearing this one: "A person who can't break 90 has no business on the golf course. A person who breaks 90 has no business."

Bobby Jones' Abe Massar likes the one about the sheepish looking player with clubs slung over his back entering his home at 8:30 at night. He glances up at a scolding wife and says, "Thank goodness that's over until 6 in the morning."

Bainbridge officials announced that the Jack Gray Sr. Memorial Golf Tournament will be held at the Bainbridge Country Club this Thursday. They have entries from Georgia, South Carolina, Florida and Alabama. Defending champ, Jim Vanderhoff has notified chairman Dr. J. W. Sumner he will defend his title. . . . Anniston, Alabama's, Darwin White won the pro-am tourney at the Riverside Country Club at Lanett, Ala., last week. He had as ams, Blake Lane, Shawmutt, Ala.; Ralph Kirkpatrick, West Point, and Bill DuPre, Anniston.

J. A. Wommach and Paul Ford won the blind bogey at West End Sunday. . . . Also that club will host the Georgia Professional Golfers Association pro-am meet this Friday beginning at 12 noon. . . . S. E. Gill and J. S. Smith won the East Lake dogfite last week. Cat and dogfite champs were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hoopes and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wilburn tied with Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Denson.

Jim Yates, pro at the Candler Park club, announces that his winter greens are available for play. . . . The Ladies' Golf Association of Perry will entertain a similar group from Robins Air Force Base Thursday for play and lunch.

Buckhead Nips Orr Whites, 12-0

Buckhead's shutout-happy Civitans slammed the door for good at Piedmont Park Tuesday, blanking the Fritz Orr Whites 12-0 and taking home the Atlanta Midget football championship trophy.

Quarterback Jimmy Sudderth connected for a couple of touchdown passes in the second and fourth quarters while the staunch Civitan firewall, weighted by Boyd Braswell and Bob Boardman, gave the Whites just one first down.

The Buckhead team outscored its opponents 168-6 during regular season and playoff games, losing its string of whitewashes in the playoff semi-final when a last-play-of-the-game score left them with a scant 7-6 win over Adams Park.

3-AA LEADERS

Tibbetts Hopes Marietta's Dry; Simerville-Johnston Duel Set

By MORT PERSKY

Marvin Tibbetts, West Fulton's sophomore passing whiz who's just 147 yards away from the 1,000-yard mark, hopes he'll be heading for drydock when he and his mates travel to Marietta Friday night for their last game of the season.

Reason: Tibbetts has been sloshing across wet fields for two weeks now in building his big lead in the Region 3-AA aerial department. He has completed 59 passes, one less than Roosevelt's Ted Mosley, but is 237 yards ahead of Mosley, who throws for less distance.

If he misses his mark this week, Tibbetts has "only" two years left in which to make up for it.

Harry Rorrie Top Dog At Dublin Hunter's Meet

DUBLIN, Ga., Nov. 9 (AP)—Harry Rorrie, a foxhound owned by J. C. Rorrie of Marshallville, N.C., led the field today at the end of the second day of the futurity chase in the National Fox Hunters Assn. meet.

The event, which winds up tomorrow over the rolling country east of the Oconee River, is based on hunting, trailing, speed and drive.

Harry Rorrie has amassed 145 points. In second is Reed's Henry, owned by James M. Reed of Dalton, Ga., and Flame Davis, owned by W. V. Davis of Old Fort, Tenn., each with 130 points.

Burris Hill Maud of the Burris kennels, Lincolnton, N.C., is in third place with 125 points, while Percy Raider W., owned by John B. Watson, Springfield, Tenn., and Meggs Ark, owned by J. W. Meggs, Marshallville, N.C., each has 115 points.

A Georgia dog, Pineview Betty, owned by G. C. Christian, Forest Park, Ga., led the futurity at the end of Monday's chase.

The third cast of the futurity will start at sunup tomorrow, and the all-age will begin Thursday morning.

Former Gov. Walker Dies at 77

but when he did not leave his room Tuesday morning, the family thought perhaps he merely was sleeping late.

BORN JULY 4

Mr. Walker was born on July 4, 1877, in Monroe. He attended the Georgia Military Institute and then entered the University of Georgia where he graduated with an A. B. degree in 1897.

He was admitted to the bar in 1897 in Monroe and seven years later was elected mayor of the city. Two years later he was named solicitor-general of the Western Judicial Circuit, an office he held until 1913.

In 1917 he was named attorney general for a four-year term.

Mr. Walker was elected governor after a hard-fought campaign with Thomas W. Hardwick, governor and former senator. He retired from the governorship in 1927 and entered law practice in Atlanta.

A leader in the field of education, he served for many years as a trustee of Mercer University in Macon and Shorter College in Rome.

CRIMINAL LAW

Mr. Walker, an authority on Georgia criminal law, founded the Woodrow Wilson College of Law with J. B. Kilbride, present dean, in 1933.

The former governor wrote his own textbook on Georgia criminal law, "Walker's Notes on Criminal Law." He taught a course in criminal law at the college last spring and had planned to teach another course next spring. He was in his office at the college only last Friday.

The college suspended Wednesday's classes. An alumni dinner scheduled for Friday night was canceled.

Mr. Walker was a charter member of the Old War Horse Lawyers' Club.

He retired two years ago as general counsel of the Georgia Department of Labor, a post he had held for 15 years.

Until the past summer, he had maintained residences in Atlanta and in Monroe. In Atlanta he lived in St. Andrew's Apartments, 7 Eleventh St., N.E.

Survivors include his wife, the former Miss Rosa Matthews, and a son, Harold Walker of Atlanta, and four grandchildren.

something clobbered me. I came to on the beach."

Sheppard contends a bushy-haired burglar killed his pregnant 31-year-old wife, then knocked him out and left him lying on the beach in front of their lakefront home.

However, the state, asking the death sentence, charges Sheppard beat Marilyn to death in her bed after a quarrel over the other woman.

Mayor Houk said he walked about the premises that morning and Prosecutor Mahon asked:

"Did you see any evidence at all of any effort to force an entrance into the house?"

"No, sir, I did not," the witness replied.

The day's first witness, Mrs. Ahern testified at one point:

"Mrs. Sheppard said on Dr. Sheppard's return from Los Angeles with Dr. Chapman—the Sheppards were the Chapmans' house guests I believe, Dr. Chapman told Mrs. Sheppard that Sam was thinking of a divorce and told Chappie about it on the way home.

"On the way to the ranch where Mrs. Sheppard was staying Dr. Chapman and Dr. Sheppard discussed it and Dr. Chapman convinced Dr. Sheppard he and Marilyn were right for each other and should try it again."

Dr. Randall J. Chapman is a Los Angeles osteopath and friend of the Sheppards. Marilyn spent some time at his Monterey, Calif., ranch last March while Dr. Sheppard was taking a postgraduate course several hundred miles away in Los Angeles.

The state contends Dr. Sheppard utilized this absence from his wife to renew an illicit love affair with pretty Susan Hayes, who then was in Los Angeles. She is a 24-year-old former technician in the Osteopathic Hospital in Bay Village and a scheduled state witness at the trial.

Mrs. Ahern told of a watch Dr. Sheppard gave Susan but added that in Marilyn's conversation "her name was never mentioned."

Democrats Set To Kill Dixon-Yates Contract

from all eight of the Democratic committee members and from possibly three of the 10 Republican members. Such Republican backing would put over the resolution.

Pastore's resolution noted that the signing of the contract would "create many problems and cause effectuation of steps which may be injurious to the public interest." It also asserted that the signing "could lead to much costly and unwarranted litigation" if Congress should decide against the Dixon-Yates proposal.

"POLITICAL ISSUE"

Rep. Cole (R-NY), committee chairman, said he could not predict what the committee would do.

"It's developed to the point of a clear-cut political issue," he said.

The committee also will decide tomorrow whether to continue public hearings.

In the fourth day of public hearings, Rep. Hollifield (D-Cal), who started the attack against the Dixon-Yates proposal last June, declared that AEC member Joseph Campbell had helped "foment" the private power pact.

He called the nomination by Eisenhower of Campbell to be controller general a "travesty on justice." He called on Campbell to disqualify himself from any participation in the contract if he is confirmed by the Senate.

OPPOSITION VIEWS

The committee received the opposition views of two TVA board members, who said they had presented their statements to Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, chairman of the three-member board. Vogel testified yesterday that "the best interest of all concerned will be served" by an early start on construction of the private steam plant proposed under the Dixon-Yates contract. He did not read the statement prepared by the two—Dr. Harry A. Curtis, vice chairman, and Raymond R. Paty.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) placed their statement in the record. He said it was "delivered the same day to Gen. Vogel, who was then in Washington."

The language of the prepared statement by Vogel and the statement presented by his associates was similar. Curtis and Paty, however, went into more detail and asserted that it would be desirable for AEC and TVA to complete their arrangements before the Dixon-Yates contract was executed.

"COURT ACTION"

Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee told the committee that his state would use "all the resources at its command" to defeat the Dixon-Yates proposal. He spoke particularly of a "court action" but did not explain further.

Clement told Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), vice chairman of the joint committee, that he did not "question the honesty and integrity of the President of the United States but I do question the quality of advice he has received."

Clement, Tennessee Valley representatives, and public power advocates saw the proposal as "a step toward destroying TVA and the competitive yardstick on power rates it poses for private utilities."

AIRPORT REPORT—NO. 3

Jammed Streets Void Value of Flight Speed

who drive to and from their airport jobs also drive home to lunch in the Hapeville, East Point and College Park residential areas.

You could probably add another 2,000 visitors a day among persons who come to the airport to see friends and relatives off or to greet them on their return home, or just to watch the sights of the airport operations.

JAM RANGE

During peak hours of air traffic there are sometimes 20 or 30 big airliners on the terminal ramps, discharging and taking on passengers for flights every few minutes.

It is during such peak hours as these and during the morning and afternoon rush hours of airport employees that Virginia avenue and streets leading into it from College Park, East Point and Hapeville are clogged with automotive traffic.

This street congestion causes delays, makes many persons miss their planes and nullifies the advantage of air travel speed.

There are three principal routes from Atlanta to the airport—the south expressway, Stewart avenue and Sylvan road. All three funnel traffic into the Virginia avenue bottleneck approach to the airport.

MORE TRAFFIC

With air travel constantly increasing, the prospect is for greater rather than less automobile traffic congestion on the present approaches.

Most people use the south expressway from Atlanta to the airport. Under ideal non-rush traffic hours it takes only 25 or 30 minutes to drive that route to the airport. But in the peak rush hours it can take an hour. Part of that delay is in getting to the expressway, but another part is the congestion and crooked route from the expressway across railroad tracks and through Hapeville and Virginia avenue to the airport.

Atlanta planners are proposing a short cut that would leave the expressway near Cleveland avenue and go directly to the airport, by-passing the Hapeville business district and Virginia avenue.

Such an access route would shave off about one and a half miles in distance but would result in far greater savings in time, especially if it were a limited-access, expressway type thoroughfare.

In the words of Atlanta's Mayor Hartsfield, "it would be just like moving the airport five miles closer to town."

The problem is how to get such a road built, since it would cost a great deal of money and the City of Atlanta can't build such a road, even if it had the money to do the job, because the route would lie not in Atlanta but in portions of Hapeville and East Point.

If such a road is ever built, and it seems an imperative need, it apparently will be up to the State Highway Department to build it.

Plans for Cobb Cemetery Again Blocked by Court

In a 4-to-3 decision the Georgia Supreme Court Tuesday prevented establishment of a cemetery in Cobb County near the Marietta four-lane highway and the new Smyrna road. It was the second time a petition, involving the same cemetery, had been before the high court.

The decision saw Justice L. E. Wyatt and Justice J. H. Hawkins dispute the legality of population legislation—or bills commonly known in the General Assembly as "general bills with local application." These bills get the legislative benefit of statewide laws, but are restricted to counties in a certain population bracket—usually so restricted as to mean a single county.

One point of dispute in the Cobb case was the constitutionality of the law or laws empowering the Cobb County commissioners to grant permission for construction of cemeteries. One such act said that in "any county adjoining a county with a population of 125,000 according to the census of 1910," the governing authority should have power to grant permits for cemeteries.

The court has held that acts which have been classified upon the basis of population are general, and not special laws, where population has some reasonable relation to the subject-matter of the law, and furnishes some legitimate grounds of differentiating.

HAWKINS' STAND

Justice Hawkins felt it was going too far to try to classify a county based upon the population of an adjoining county.

Justice Wyatt declared he believes that all laws using population as a basis for classification "are nothing short of subterfuge." However, he said he had felt bound by former decisions of the court to the contrary.

"I am perfectly willing to overrule all these cases," Justice Wyatt said in his dissenting opinion, "but until and unless this is done, I am convinced that the rule should be applied in all cases, including those arising in Cobb County."

JUSTICES' STAND

Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth and Justices Tom Candler and Bond Almond concurred in Justice Hawkins' opinion. Justices Carlton Mobley and Grady Head joined Wyatt in dissenting, but they dissented for different reasons.

The case was brought by W. R. Humthlett Jr. and others to enjoin the cemetery establishment naming Byron Reeves and E. N. O'Beirne. The Cobb court denied the injunction, and the Supreme Court reversed the Cobb court's ruling.

School Work Exhibited In Lumpkin

Constitution State News Service.

DAHLONEGA, Nov. 9—Lumpkin County schools are observing American Education Week this week and patrons have been invited to visit the classrooms to see the schools in normal operation.

Groups from five schools have prepared window displays in Dahlonega stores featuring teaching materials and equipment used in the countywide system.

Schools represented are Lumpkin County High School, Cane Creek and Eastside elementary schools, seventh grade from Dahlonega Elementary School and the North Georgia College chapter of the Future Teachers' Assn.

Demonstrations on the use of equipment will be given in one of the large display windows Wednesday afternoon by various groups and will include folk dancing, to show use of records in the school rooms; a demonstration in the use of art materials, and a puppet show "Brer Rabbit and the Tar Baby."

Taking part in the demonstrations will be Susan Southard, Laura Freeman, Frances Fry, Virginia Yager, Mike Williams, Hubert Parks, John Pigg and Danny Walker of Dahlonega Elementary; C. F. Collins, Charles Wimpy and Ruth Yother, of Cane Creek Elementary, and students from the Eastside Elementary.

An original play written by the Dahlonega Elementary School third grade of which Mrs. C. M. Yager is teacher, will be a feature of chapel services Wednesday morning.

Body in Bed Must Have Put Burglar To Flight

The burglar who broke into a house at 228 Hilliard St., N.E., probably left faster than he entered, police said Tuesday.

He discovered the occupant, Susan Howard, 79, Negro, dead in bed.

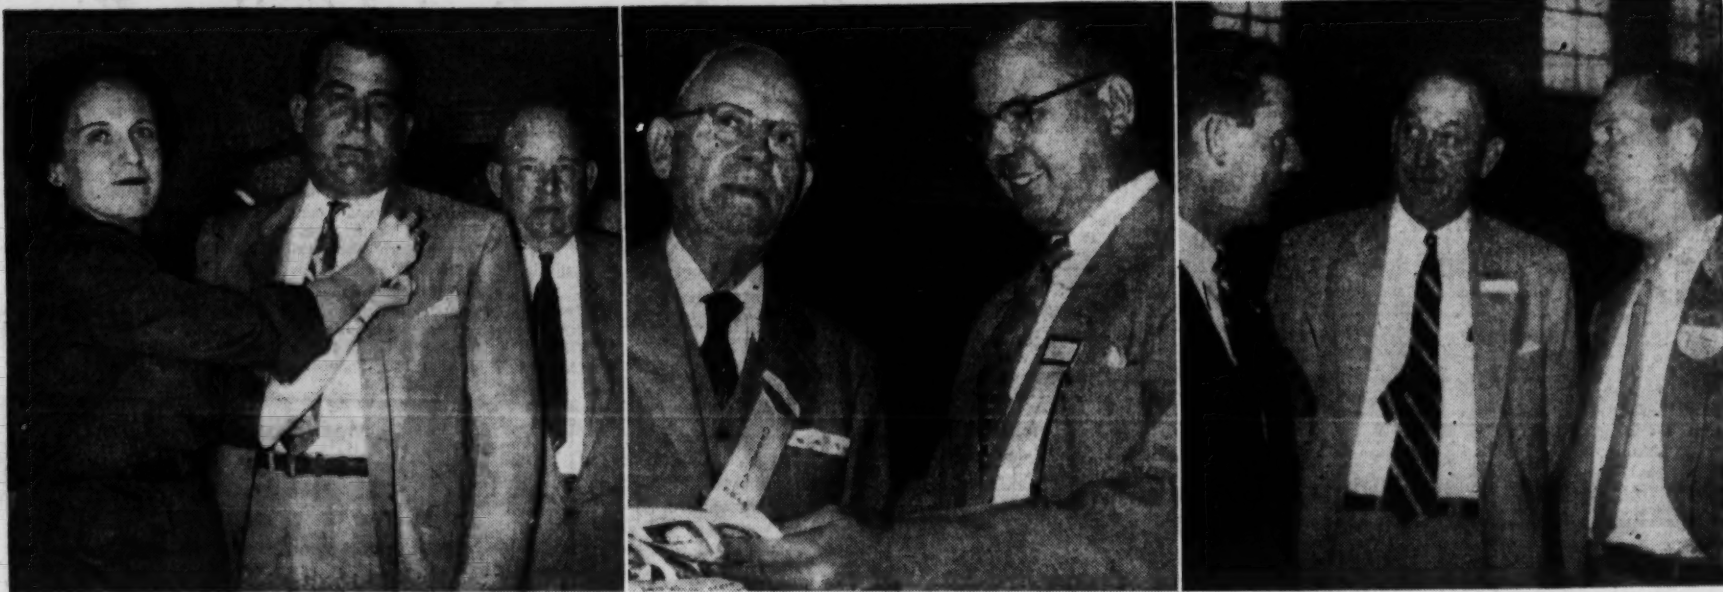

The burglary was not discovered until Tuesday night when police were called to investigate the death of the Howard woman.

Det. E. F. McKillop said the intruder broke a side window and then removed the hinges from a door to reach the main part of the house.

McKillop said death was believed to have resulted from natural causes.

Members of the Georgia Public Service Commission are attending the meeting of National Association of Railroad and Public Utilities Commissioners in Chicago this week.

Going to Chicago are Commissioners Matt McWhorter, Allen Chappell, Walter McDonald, James Perry and Crawford Pilcher, and staff members Knowles Davis, A. O. Randall and David Benson.

Papermakers Elect; Sutlive Put on Board

I. Y. East of Mobile, Ala., production supervisor of International Paper Co., Tuesday was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Community Relations Service of the Southern Paper and Pulp Industry.

New directors elected to two-year terms at the group's first annual meeting here are: John M. Barnes of Canton, N.C., manager of industrial and community relations, Champion Paper & Fiber Co.; C. E. Hartford of Acme, N.C., vice president, Riegel Carolina Corp.; G. W. Brumley of St. Marys, Ga., vice president, St. Marys, Kraft Corp.; Kirk Sutlive of Savannah, public relations director, Union Bag & Paper Corp.; W. W. Hanes of Pensacola, Fla., assistant resident general manager, St. Regis Paper Co., and J. R. Buchanan of Sylva, N.C., division manager, Mead Corp.; Justin R. Weddell of Pensacola, public relations consultant to Regis Co., was named an "honorary member of the board."

Directors remaining on the board are K. F. Adams of Roanoke Rapids, N.C., vice president and resident manager, The Halifax Paper Co., Inc.; W. H. Bailey of Hartsville, S.C., general personnel director, Sonoco Products Co.; George L. Clarke of Coosa Pines, Ala., mill manager, Coosa River Newsprint Co.; James G. Dalton of Austell, secretary and treasurer, Austell Box Board Corp.; and Gordon Singletary of Brunswick, plant manager, Brunswick Pulp and Paper Co.

Dr. R. C. S. Young, director of admission at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, urged delegates to the Atlanta meeting to "tell the story of the American way of life" to today's youth.

He said active demonstration of America's opportunities for young people "is the best answer to the isms" that seek to corrupt the minds of youth.

"Show our youngsters that there is no longer a class system to hold them down in this country," Dr. Young declared. "We have no 'working class' today; there's a low-income group, yes—but tomorrow you can't tell where a person now in that group will be."

A public relations program for any industry is "not a luxury, but just as important as management and sales," Sutlive told the meeting. He added, "no company or business has the right to disregard its responsibilities to the public."

Weddell, presiding over workshop panels here, said the paper and pulp industry is "the least known and least appreciated by the public."

"We must convince the public that our industry revives and restores but does not exhaust resources," he declared. He described this industry as "a building one in all instances."

George R. Koons, industrial relations manager of the huge new Bowaters Southern Corp. plant at Calhoun, Tenn., told how a recent community open house program by his plant helped gain acceptance in that area for the new industry.

Sutlive presided over a concluding panel discussion on community relations service aims and objectives. Participants included R. B. Allport, Camp Manufacturing Co., Franklin, Va.; W. H. Bailey, Sonoco Products Co., Hartsville, S.C.; R. E. Phinney, Container Corp. of America, Fernandina Beach, Fla.; H. E. Wehr, The Mead Corp., Harrison, Tennessee; Donald M. Rochester, American Paper & Pulp Assn., New York, and East.

The 38-year-old actress and Karger were married Nov. 1, 1952, in Santa Barbara and separated several days ago. She was married twice previously, to actor Ronald Reagan and manufacturer Myron Fitterman. Karger was formerly wed to actress Patti Sacks.

All Satisfied Now—DeKalb Mixup Of Missing Autos Is Solved

The case of the missing autos was cleared up Tuesday to the satisfaction of everyone involved.

DeKalb County police said the mixup occurred this way: An attorney, notified that a brother had died unexpectedly, hurried to his car and rushed to the scene on East Brookhaven drive.

The attorney arrived just as his brother was being placed into an ambulance to be carried to Emory University Hospital. He got back into what he believed to be his car and followed the ambulance. The brother was pronounced dead at Emory.

Soon after the incident Monday afternoon, an auto was reported stolen from East Brookhaven drive.

Tuesday the attorney walked into DeKalb police headquarters and handed over a set of car keys. He explained that during the excitement he had driven off in the wrong car.

DeKalb officers returned the missing auto to the owner who had believed it to be stolen. Then they accompanied the attorney to the place where his brother was stricken ill on East Brookhaven drive. The attorney's auto was still where he had left it.

Deficient Children Laid To Parent 'Dissipations'

Dissipated parents are responsible for one of the nation's greatest problems—sub-standard children—a prominent Atlanta pediatrician said Tuesday night.

Dr. Leila Denmark, who last year was named Professional Woman of the Year, told members of Emory University Alpha Tau Omega fraternity that young men must observe certain "inhibitions" themselves and select wives who are willing to follow their lead, if they are to bring normal, healthy children into the world.

She spoke as part of the university's Religious Emphasis Week program.

Mendes Gets Faith Vote; Budget Next

PARIS, Nov. 9—Premier Mendes-France won a vote of confidence today from the French National Assembly, opening the way to what may be a long, hard battle over the budget for 1955.

The vote was 320 to 207, the smallest he has received, but it was another victory for Mendes-France before he leaves on a trip to the United States for talks with President Eisenhower.

The main opposition consisted of an unusual and largely accidental alliance of the Communists and Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP).

The budget amounts to about 9½ billion dollars. This is $1,220,000,000 less than the estimate for the current year, but many of the deputies want greater spending—not less.

WAGE INCREASES

They particularly want more spent on wage increases and pensions in the Communications Ministry, the subject of today's vote.

The government's victory was on a question of procedure. It rejected a committee report that called on Mendes-France for new and increased estimates. He told the Assembly this was only a way of getting around the constitutional provision that bars proposals of new spending while the budget is under discussion.

Today's vote indicated that a majority of the Assembly would not contest his argument, at least not to the point of voting him out of office four days before his scheduled departure for a visit to the United States and Canada.

There are 627 seats, and it would have taken 314 deputies—one more than half—to force his resignation.

Comparatively little interest was shown in the vote. Only about 200 deputies showed up for the short discussion that preceded it. The rest left proxies.

MENDES CHATS

During the one interval in the debate, Mendes-France sat in his place chatting and reading a newspaper instead of lining up potential supporters in the corridors.

The discussion gave him a chance to defend his budget against the charge that it had nothing new to offer.

"I maintain that this budget clearly shows the way in which the government means to use the nation's resources," he said.

"There is more expenditure on housing, investments, farm equipment, schools and public health, and less on unproductive items."

"That is the way you judge a budget. And the deficit will be 100 billion francs (about 286 million dollars) less than last year."

Will Fire Some Workers, Griffin Warns at Augusta

By BOB SIBLEY
Constitution Staff Writer

AUGUSTA, Nov. 9—State workers who "guessed wrong" in the recent gubernatorial election will be fired, Gov.-Elect Marvin Griffin said Tuesday before the 54th annual Peace Officers Association of Georgia convention.

"Quite a few people have been wondering what I am going to do about those who guessed wrong," Griffin told a packed banquet room at the Bon Air Hotel.

"The answer is simple—fire them!" Griffin said, pounding his fist on the speaker's table for emphasis.

Concerning a state worker's friend Griffin said had been to see him about the worker's status, the gov.-elect said he answered: "Tell him he has nothing to worry about, I am going to fire him."

Lt. Gov.-Elect Ernest Vandiver, speaking after Griffin, urged preparedness "in this H-bomb age in which we live."

Vandiver said residents of Georgia, particularly, should stress preparedness since there are five prime targets here for an attacking enemy. He listed the targets as Atlanta, Columbus, Macon, Savannah and Augusta.

Henry I. Anderson, 63-year-old veteran of 18 years with the Statesboro police department, was awarded a new automobile as Georgia's "Most Courteous Law Enforcement Officer." Griffin presented the keys to the new car, valued at more than $3,000, to Anderson.

Anderson and five other officers were selected in a state-wide vote conducted by the AAAA clubs of Atlanta, Augusta and Savannah.

Other winners were Sgt. Fred G. Singleton, Macon Police Dept.; Corp. Charles E. Dill, Georgia State Patrol, Tifton; Lt. Turner J. Johnson, Valdosta Police Dept.; B. H. Usery, Barnesville Police Dept.; and Trooper Jimmy Hooks, State Patrol, Donaldsonville.

The winners, with their wives, received expenses-paid vacation trips to various points on the east coast.

The convention was dedicated to former sheriff M. Gary Whittle, POAG president for seven years, and a special tribute was paid Mrs. Whittle by Sol. George Haines of the superior court here.

Richmond County and Augusta law enforcement agencies, and Walter R. McDonald of the Georgia Public Service Commission, were hosts to a barbecue for delegates Tuesday night.

2nd Fireworks Blast Kills 15 Brazilians

NOVA IGUAÇU, Brazil, Nov. 8—Fifteen persons, including 11 women, were killed today by a blast which destroyed the explosives plant in which they were working.

It was the second such disaster in Brazil in four days.

December Talks Slated For School Bond Vote

W. L. Robinson, president of the Fulton County Board of Education, said Tuesday his group would consider a proposed two-million-dollar school bond issue at its regular December meeting.

Robinson said the body had reconsidered its plans to meet this week and plan the bond election after the board's attorney, Baxter Jones, pointed out that bond elections must be set during a regular board meeting.

The body also is scheduled to discuss revision of its 1955 budget Dec. 7 in view of a "critical financial situation" resulting from the election defeat of a constitutional amendment which would have provided the board with $285,000 in revenue.

County School Supt. Paul West previously has said the school system faced "retrenchment" in all phases of the school program if the amendment were defeated.

Robinson said the board probably would wait the minimum of 30 days after its meeting to hold the bond election, probably in January. The election will be held as soon as machinery can be set up, he added.

Meanwhile, he also pointed out that a check of the board's tax digest has indicated a bond issue of 2½ million dollars might be possible. The board had suggested a five-million-dollar building program to meet present and future needs.

The bond issue proposal was made possible by voter approval of a constitutional amendment raising the limit of school bond indebtedness.

Atlantan, 50, Booked After Bus Fracas

A 50-year-old white man was booked on charges of disorderly conduct—stabbing Tuesday and three Negro high school students were turned over to juvenile authorities as result of a melee on a crowded Federal Prison trolley, police said.

One of the youths received a slash wound across the arm, Detective E. H. Scott said.

Mack G. Bishop of 1992 Spinks St., N.W., told police one of the Negro youths was using obscene words in the presence of an elderly white woman and a small white girl and that he asked the youth to stop. Bishop said the students, who were standing, began to thump him on the head.

Bishop said a passenger told him that one of the students had a knife. He told police he warned the youths that he would cut the next one who touched him. He said one youth again struck him on the head and he lashed out with his knife.

Scott and Sgt. W. D. Johnson said two youths who attempted to prevent the arrest of their wounded companion were taken into custody.

Bishop, who said he was scheduled to report to a hospital Thursday for an operation, was released on a copy of charges. He is scheduled to appear in municipal court at 3:30 p.m. Thursday to answer to the charge.

State Legislature To Have 2 GOPs

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Much has been said about the increased power of Georgia Democratic congressmen when the national House and Senate are reorganized by the Democrats in January.

The victory of the Democrats over the nation put Georgians in a good spot. This includes Democratic Rep. James Davis of the Fifth District, who turned back an impressive challenge by Republican candidate Charlie Moyer.

Much has been said about the increased power of the Democrats in the Congress. But nothing has been said about the increased power of the Democrats in the Georgia Legislature.

There has been no notice given to the fact that the Republican strength in the Georgia House of Representatives has been reduced 50 per cent for the new session. Yes, there will be only one Republican in the House next year.

Rep. Hayes Pickett of Pickens County, a Republican, didn't offer for reelection. A Democrat, A. C. Moore, was elected by default of the Republican Party. A Republican tried in vain to win in Towns County.

The lone Republican headed for the House is Rep. Reid Mull of Fannin, traditional Republican County. Mull is an incumbent legislator. Even his election is slated to be contested, however, with Stanley Daves, a Democrat asking the House for a hearing.

Over in the Senate, the Republican strength will remain static.

Joseph Seitz Is Elected By NCCJ

Joseph Seitz, president of Colonial Stores, Inc., and widely known in Atlanta civic circles, has been elected a member of the national board of directors of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The Atlanta election was announced at the 26th annual meeting of the conference in Washington, D.C. The board agreed at the meeting on a national campaign goal of 3½ million dollars to finance an expanded program designed to build good will and understanding among Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

Seitz, a communicant of the Cathedral of Christ the King, is a member of the Capital City Club, the Atlanta Athletic Club and the Atlanta Rotary Club. He began his chain store career in 1923, one year after coming to the United States from his native Zurich, Switzerland.

NCCJ activities in Atlanta are headed by Dr. Hal M. Davison, Laurent DeGivie and Sinclair Jacobs, cochairmen.

S. Fulton Jaycees Name Script-Writing Judges

C. B. Bonds, Charles Martin Jr. and Charles Rataree have been named as judges for a Voice of Democracy script-writing contest to be sponsored Nov. 23 at Russell, College Park, Hapeville and Fairburn high schools by the South Fulton Jaycees.

The local winner will receive a radio and his script will be entered in the statewide competition, according to Forbes Stakely, youth chairman of the South Fulton club.

CHEST CAMPAIGN ENDS FRIDAY!

NERO . . . OR HERO?

You can be a Good Neighbor to thousands of Atlantans with just one gift to the Community Chest

Remember Nero? He played history's most ignoble violin solo. From a hillside overlooking Rome, he fiddled . . . while a mammoth fire engulfed his people and their accumulations of a lifetime.

Good examples live on, too. Like that of the many Atlantans who refuse to "fiddle" while fellow Atlantans go ragged, sick and hungry . . . just around the corner.

There's a way you, too, can help. A way to bring new warmth, heart and hope into countless blighted lives that border so closely on your own. To set an example that will ignite a chain reaction of generosity in others.

You can be a Hero—instead of a Nero. By doing your bit to help support 39 local agencies that serve our city's health and welfare needs.

You can do it with a single gift to the Atlanta Community Chest. Give today . . . generously!

Baptist Colleges' Shift To Be Convention Topic

Proposed relocation of two Georgia Baptist-supported junior colleges will be a major item of business at the annual meeting of the Georgia Baptist Convention in Augusta Tuesday through Thursday.

The college are Brewton-Parker, now located at Mount Vernon, and Truett-McConnell, now at Cleveland.

The executive committee of the convention has asked that the schools be moved to more populous areas. Six Georgia cities so far have indicated they will bid for the two institutions if the convention approves their relocation.

CITIES LISTED

The cities are Gainesville, Atlanta, Dalton, Columbus, Savannah and Augusta. The Augusta Board of Education has proposed that the Junior College of Augusta be abolished if the Baptist convention will relocate one of its colleges there, a denominational spokesman said.

Bids for the new locations probably will not be heard at this convention meeting. Until the proposal for relocation is approved or rejected there is no official body to receive the bids. If the proposal is approved the convention's education commission probably will hear the bids and report to the 1955 convention.

The convention will open at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Sessions will be held through Thursday morning at Curtis Baptist Church.

Principal speakers will include Dr. C. C. Warren of Charlotte, N.C., chairman of the Southern Baptist Convention's executive committee; Dr. S. L. Stealey, president of Southeastern Baptist Seminary, Wake Forest, N.C.; Dr. Perry F. Webb, pastor of the San Antonio, Texas, First Baptist Church; Dr. Baker James Cauthern of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, and Dr. C. E. Autrey of the Home Mission Board's Department of Evangelism.

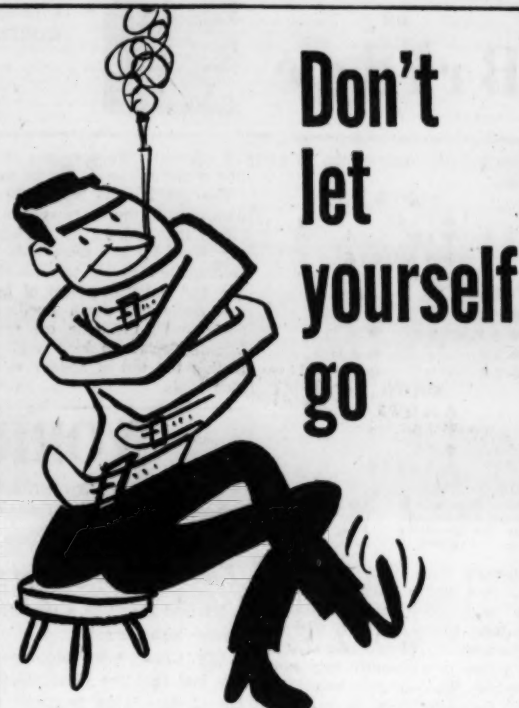

The Rev. Cecil F. Thomas of Nichols will preach the convention sermon at 11:40 a.m. Tuesday.

THREE TO RETIRE

The convention will pay tribute to three of its executives who will retire at the end of 1954. They are Dr. James W. Merritt, who for the past 24 years has been executive secretary-treasurer; Dr. Arthur Jackson, executive secretary-treasurer of the Georgia Baptist Foundation and Endowment Committee, and Dr. H. C. Whitener, secretary of the convention's Department of Evangelism.

Reports from departments and agencies of the convention will be heard.

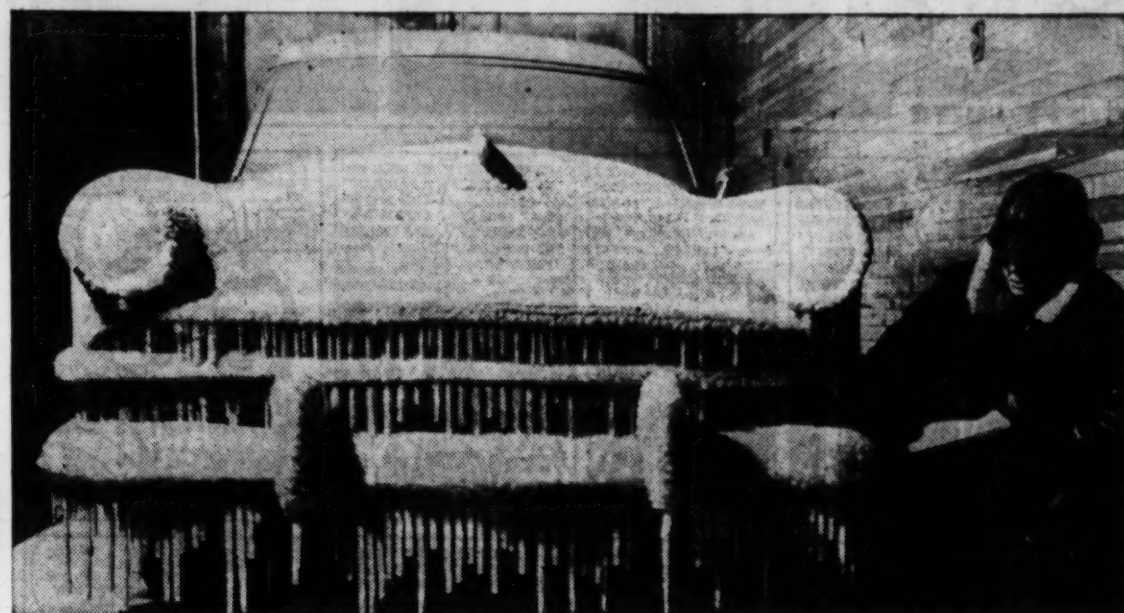

Joint conferences of the Georgia Baptist Pastors and Men's Brotherhood will precede the convention on Monday.

Imagine! Instant starts in zero weather!

New, super-refined gasoline gives you faster, cleaner getaways on frosty mornings! Here's why...

1 Cold-room tests show: Cars fueled with new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX start instantly at temperatures below zero! Here's the secret: Besides being super-refined, New Gulf NO-NOX is specially cold-proofed for split-second starts on cold or frosty days... and fast, fuel-saving warm-up, too!

2 Laboratory tests show what a difference Gulf Super-Refining makes. Instead of trying to fight harmful deposits with so-called "miracle additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place; removes the cause—the "dirty-burning tail-end"—at the refinery. Just look at the plates in the unretouched photo above and see what a difference Gulf super-refining makes!

3 The "Gunk" that takes the "Go" out of your engine! That tar-like, gummy residue is what's left after evaporating a single gallon of the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline... the part that Gulf refines out in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX. There's at least that much "dirty-burning tail-end" in a tankful of ordinary gasoline!

What's more, besides giving your engine more complete protection, new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most... no knock, no pre-ignition... stall-proof smoothness... instant starts and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

COMPLETELY NEW! SUPER-REFINED

Dr. John Turner, head of the Fulton County Medical Society, will preside, and Dr. Jack Norris, chairman of the Equen Memorial Lectureship, will introduce the speaker. The lectureship was established by Dr. Murdock Equen in 1936 in memory of his father, Jonte Equen.

Delta Mechanics Complete Switch To AFL Union

A local CIO union of mechanics and ground service personnel at Delta-C&S Airlines Monday became Lodge 1008 of the International Association of Machinists (AFL).

Its members are among the first to benefit from the "growing unity" between AFL and CIO, according to W. F. Rodgers, Lodge 1008 president.

Until recently, union employees of the airline belonged to Local 1003, United Auto Workers (CIO).

Their transfer to the IAM-CIO, made with the consent of UAW-CIO, followed a vote by members of Local 1003 to disband as a UAW organization and seek affiliation with the IAM Airline Division.

Officers of the disbanded union were held over. Their headquarters are in Hapeville.

A Rhyme a Day

"It is one of Nature's compensations that we always think of our old friends as looking older and less active than ourselves,"—article quote.

It is a painful thing, indeed . . . to meet some friend of long ago . . . who, (so to speak) has "gone to seed" . . . who once was fast but now is slow . . . who was, as you remember him . . . a perfect figure of a man . . . always as neatly dressed and trim . . . as Chesterfield or Dapper Dan.

But what is even worse than that . . . is meeting with some girl you knew . . . who once was slim but now so fat . . . you wonder how she ever grew . . . to such proportions since the days . . . when she went skipping down the street . . . and all the fellows turned to gaze . . . upon her figure, slim and neat.

And then, some day, you meet a chap . . . with blood-shot eyes and thinning hair . . . with lines of worry on his map . . . and, suddenly, you are aware . . . you meet him somewhere, long ago . . . and yet, somehow, you cannot place . . . the time you knew him but you know . . . it is an old familiar face . . . and since you can't recall his name . . . you stand aside to let him pass . . . and he emerges from the frame . . . that holds a full-length looking-glass.

Opening lead: King of hearts.

In boot camp training, the recruit is drilled in the essentials of adequate trump support, and the importance of holding four of partner's suit is constantly impressed upon him. The rule may be relaxed when responder holds three trumps headed by an honor, but it is emphasized upon the trainee that he must avoid getting to game with less than eight trumps. Occasionally, however, it becomes apparent that the only hope for game is in a suit containing only seven trumps and in this case the candidate must decide to live dangerously.

Today's hand is one such case. Realizing that game is no trump or in the minor suit was out of the question, North and South decided to try their luck at spades. The game was scored against indifferent defense when the cards broke well, but one player in the West seat found the winning defense declarer's best efforts.

West opened with one heart and North overcalled with two diamonds. South, realizing that partner's vulnerable overall was based on a good hand, decided to offer partner a further chance to bid. North was not forced to speak by this call but decided to rebid his six card suit. South decided to try once more with a bid of three spades, feeling that the hand should be safe for four diamonds. North, though he knew partner had only four spades, gambled it out for game on the theory that the heart ruff, if any, could be taken in dummy.

At most tables West cashed the ace and king of hearts and shifted to a diamond. Declarer won and observed that it would take a three-trump break to bring home the hand. He therefore attacked spades at once and, though West held up two rounds, declarer had no choice but to try a third, which he did with bated breath. If West showed up with four spades, declarer would find himself completely out of business. However, the fates smiled and South came home with 10 tricks.

At one table, West was unwilling to let nature take its course, for he observed that, unmolested, nature's straight line would operate on behalf of declarer. He therefore continued with a third round of hearts, permitting declarer to ruff in one hand and discard from the other. It was apparent to him that a discard would not be useful. The third heart was ruffed in dummy with the six of spades. Declarer then led the jack of spades and West let the trick hold. The next spade lead was taken with the ace and a fourth round of hearts was declarer's death knell. East ruffed with the nine of spades, forcing declarer's king and promoting the ten of spades to winning rank.

Suppose Schooling Ended After 6th Grade

Mildred F., 29, is a teacher in junior high school.

"Dr. Crane, many of us teachers feel that the curriculum is out of date," she began.

"We'd like to teach our pupils how to solve the everyday problems of life."

"But the colleges have coerced our schools into keeping a lot of obsolete courses in the curriculum."

"Don't you think the high schools should declare their independence from college dictation and prepare boys and girls for life instead of for college entrance requirements?"

BRAVO, TEACHERS

Yes, Mildred is correct. We have a fine group of teachers in our public schools, but they are often hamstrung by college coercion.

So don't blame the good teachers for the inefficiency of our school output.

The basic purpose of our schools is to prepare students for solving the everyday problems they will face in life. And we spend billions of dollars per year on our schools. What do we get for our money?

"Well, the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and 4-H Clubs probably give our youth a better education in practical matters than do our schools!"

And the Scout leaders serve FREE. It costs the taxpayer nothing!

Subconsciously, the public gives the schools credit for most of the good work of the Boy Scouts and 4-H Clubs, but that is a mistake.

For the Scouts and 4-H Clubs

LETTER WRITING

Do your high school graduates know how to write a letter of application for a job? They don't know even how to write a good love letter!

In fact, most of them can't spell very well or punctuate or use correct grammar after 12 years of public schooling!

If in 12 years with the English language, they still can't use it with even moderate efficiency, how much good do they obtain from two years of Spanish or French or German, etc.?

Do your high schoolers know why this is a republic and NOT a democracy?

Only about 15 per cent of students ever go to college for even one semester. So what are the schools doing to prepare the other 85 per cent for happy, successful living?

You answer that question and don't blame me for seeming to be too hard on our public schools. Most of the useful knowledge your high school graduates can demonstrate, they actually learned OUTSIDE of school!

U.S. Opens Office Facility Bids

Harry M. Beckenstein of Albany was apparent low bidder Tuesday when the General Services Administration in Atlanta opened bids for a new Federal Government office building here which is to contain 200,000 square feet of floor space.

Beckenstein submitted a bid of $1.23 a square foot for office space and 86 cents a square foot for basement space on the basis of a five-year lease. He offered to build the building for rental on a three-year basis at $1.24 cents a square foot for office space and 87½ cents for basement area.

Next lowest bids were submitted by Buildings Investment, Inc., and Armistead Properties, Inc., both of Atlanta.

The new facility is to be located in an area bounded by 10th Street, Spring street, Ponce de Leon avenue and Courtland avenue. Bids were asked Sept. 22 as part of the government's program to consolidate agency operations to promote efficiency and economy of operation. One of the principal tenants will be the U. S. Internal Revenue Service.

Servicemen eligible for discharge from the service during the Christmas and New Year's holidays will, with some exceptions, be released between Dec. 13 and 17 so they can be home for the Yule season, Third Army Gen. A. R. Bolling announced Tuesday.

Overseas personnel arriving during the holiday season will be released as quickly as possible, Gen. Bolling said.

State Tax Payout 6th Lowest

The tax bill paid by Georgians in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, was the sixth lowest in the nation.

Figures compiled by the Bureau of Census and released by the U. S. Department of Commerce show that state and local governments in Georgia collected a total of $466,124,000 in taxes during the period. That breaks down to a per capita of $132.61. Revenue collected by state agencies was $261,671,000 while that taken in by local governments such as cities and counties was $204,453,000.

In the seven Southeastern states covered by the Atlanta office of the Department of Commerce, Florida led in revenue collected with $605,754,000. North Carolina was a close second with $604,115,000 and Georgia was third. Others included: Alabama, $385,559,000; Mississippi, $223,341,000; South Carolina, $286,624,000; and Tennessee, $460,570,000.

UDC Honors 4 Georgia COC Units

Special to The Constitution
ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 9—Four Georgia chapters of the Children of the Confederacy received awards at the 51st annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy here today.

Mrs. Belmont Dennis of Covington, president-general of the UDC, presided. She threw out a challenge against communism, calling it a religion that has no god. Mrs. Dennis' report covered the five fields of endeavor of the group: memorial work, benevolent work, education, historic and social activity.

Program and rules committee reports were given by Mrs. William R. Dancy, Savannah, and Mrs. William P. Tatum of New Castle.

COC award winners were: Tara Chapter, Jonesboro, which won the Grace Clare Taylor loving cup for the chapter registering greatest number of new members during the year; the Madison Chapter, winner of the Mrs. W. S. Coleman cup to chapter placing books on Civil War history in school libraries; Mrs. John Teate of the Vienna Chapter who tied with Mrs. Charles W. Lewis of Statesville, N.C., as winner of the Kate Jordan Dennis Cup to division director making best annual report (Mrs. Teate also won a $10 award for division director whose division compiles most accurate and complete roster for the year); and Claire Duggin of the Moultrie Chapter, winner of a $5 award for the best essay on Lt. Col. W. F. Nieneyer.

'The Nutcracker' Will Be Staged At 8:30 Tonight

Southern Ballet will offer a full-length version of "The Nutcracker" at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Sylvia Sayre and Jonathan Phelps will dance the roles of the Snow Princess and Prince. Pittman Corry and Karen Conrad, directors of the Ballet, will take the principal Act II roles. Seventy-one other dancers will be on stage.

Bowles To Lecture At Emory on Dec. 7

Chester Bowles, former ambassador to India, will deliver a public lecture in the Glenn Memorial auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Dec. 7.

Bowles, who will give a "Report on India," will be sponsored by the Emory Office of Community Education and the Institute of Citizenship.

The speaker is a former governor of Connecticut and served as reorganizer and director of the Office of Price Stabilization. He is a former newspaperman.

Baptists Name Promotion Aide

William A. Stewart, a minister and former newspaperman, has been named assistant director of promotion-publicity for the radio and television commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, with headquarters in Atlanta.

A native of Toronto, Canada, Stewart has been news editor of the CBS Television Pacific Network, a correspondent with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in Europe, a combat correspondent with the U.S. Marine Corps and western division editor of the United Press Movietone News. He has been associated with the editorial staffs of several daily newspapers.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, Wednesday, Nov. 10, 1954 • 21

Veterans' Day Parade Set

Veterans' Day will be celebrated in Atlanta Thursday with a parade down Peachtree street followed by a memorial service in Hurt Park.

The parade, sponsored by Atlanta Post No. 1 of the American Legion, will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Peachtree and Baker streets, NE, and proceed south on Peachtree and Whitehall streets, dispersing at Trinity avenue, SW.

Gen. Robert C. Gard, deputy commander of the Third Army, will be reviewing officer for the parade. Units taking part will include the Third Army Band, the Monroe Girls Corps, bands and ROTC units from all of the Atlanta high schools and Marist College and drum and bugle corps and drill team of Post No. 1. Many other service, veteran, patriotic and civic organizations also will participate.

All branches of the service will be represented in the parade. The memorial service will begin at 11 a.m. Main speaker will be Blake E. Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech.

In observance of the day, formerly known as Armistice Day but recently designated Veterans' Day by President Eisenhower in honor of the American dead of all wars.

Boy Urges Dad Into New Life

A father seeking a new meaning to life makes a revealing discovery in "The World and the Wonders" on Kraft Television Theater on WSB-TV at 9 p.m.

The cast includes Mikhail Rasumny, Dorothy Raymond, Sally Gracie, Wright King, Logan Ramsey, Lee Remick and E. A. Krum-schmidt.

Hubert Werner (Rasumny) has been working on the same job for 25 years and indications are he will be there for the rest of his life. However, Arthur (King), Werner's teen-age son, influenced by the writings of Schopenhauer on the meaning of life, in turn, influences his father who decides to quit his job and do the things he has always wanted to do.

His boss is sympathetic but more practical and urges Werner to return to work. The overtures are ignored until the boss takes a more positive position in terms of tangible inducements and Werner realizes certain definite responsibilities he cannot afford to ignore.

The original tele drama is by Joseph Schrank.

YOUNG HOPE-FUL—Comedian Bob Hope pays quizzical attention as his son Tony rehearses a song for the Bob Hope Show which will be presented on WSB-TV Nov. 18. The 14-year-old lad also will exchange quips with his father. Young Hope is following in the steps of his friends, Bing Crosby's boys.

Elizabeth Hailed for Relations Job

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 — Queen Mother Elizabeth, chatting with the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh about their grandchildren, told them of her daughter's amusement at a huge welcome sign in New Zealand: "God bless the Queen and keep an eye on Prince Philip!"

Asked if the strain of the trip had exhausted her, the Queen mother recalled a story which British miler Roger Bannister told the Duke of Edinburgh about an Oxford friend.

"I hear you enjoy racing about, scantily clothed," he told Bannister.

"I sometimes feel like taking a bit of exercise, but then I lie down and the feeling passes."

When the 54-year-old Queen Mother goes up the gangplank of the Queen Mary, Nov. 18, she may be physically exhausted but certainly refreshed by the knowledge of a magnificent public relations job. Not once has she indicated weariness, boredom, vexation.

In the Manchester Guardian, Alister Cooke wisely suggests that the protocol department in London might, just once, send royalty to this country in mid-September, when the weather is fine. The Queen Mother, on this trip, as in the case of the Queen and Duke, arrived at the moments when rainstorms were disfiguring the landscape.

Cooke pays tribute to U.S. newspapermen and news photographers: "The press and ubiquitous photographers received by every mail the most exhaustive instructions about what they might not do and say, but though American newsmen have kidded some queens and invited the Emperor of Ethiopia to a milk shake, they regard British royalty as a wholly separate race—and are delighted to honor it in the breach of their normal habits."

Eight weeks have elapsed, but the CAA's overdue report on the Air France plane that refused to land at Idlewild, then crash-landed in Connecticut, still isn't ready!

Channel swimmer Florence Chadwick and Marvin Kohn, Paul Winchell's Boswell, dating nightly.

DeKalb To Hold Public Hearing Thursday on 1955 Referendum

The first public hearing on a 1955 referendum on DeKalb County government will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the DeKalb Courthouse.

DeKalb legislators-elect said Tuesday they intend to hear from as many citizens as time permits and indicated further hearings would be held if necessary.

W. Hugh McWhorter, Guy Rutland Jr. and James A. Mackay, who will go to the state House of Representatives in January, and A. Mell Turner, who will take the 34th District seat in the Senate, have all pledged to call a referendum early in 1955 giving voters a clear choice between alternate forms of county government.

WILLIAMS TO ATTEND

DeKalb Commissioner - nominee Wheat Williams, who defeated Scott Candler for the county's present single Commissioner post, is expected to attend the hearing, as are other county leaders. Williams has pledged an immediate internal reorganization of county government when he takes office Jan. 1.

The legislators announced earlier that they would consider opinions voiced at Thursday's hearing in the drafting of the referendum.

TIMETABLE

The solons met Tuesday with the local government commission, which is completing its two-year study of DeKalb government, in preparation for the public hearing.

The timetable that presumably will be followed by legislators in the basic reorganization of DeKalb's government would begin with the referendum early in 1955.

After voters choose the basic form of government, the solons would work the rest of 1955 to "put the meat on the skeleton" by drafting legislation outlining in detail the new government.

Such legislation would be introduced in the 1956 session of the General Assembly and a referendum called to finally approve the change soon after the session ends. An early final referendum would allow officers of the new government to be nominated in the regular Democratic primary that year.

2 YEARS AWAY

The new government would be put in force Jan. 1, 1957, with officials elected in the 1956 election taking office then.

Proposed internal reorganization of the county government, including reforms advocated by the Griffenhagen Report, would presumably be written into law in the drafting of legislation putting a new government in force.

Commissioner-Elect Williams, however, has said he will initiate a wide-sweeping internal reorganization patterned after the Griffenhagen study when he takes office next Jan. 1. Williams said he will create recommended posts, such as those of comp-

$5,000 in Furs

Stolen Here

From Parked Car

An unlocked auto parked at Edgewood avenue and Courtland street, NE, Tuesday was looted of more than $5,000 in expensive furs and other clothing, police said.

Sidney Stille, East Orange, N.J., contractor, told Dets. I. M. Eason and J. J. Galvin he parked the auto for a few moments while en route to Warm Springs. The detectives said the missing items included a mink cape valued at $3,000, a mink stole valued at $2,500, a man's suit and a briefcase containing construction blueprints and personal papers.

State Doctors To Attend Rail Surgeons Meet

A group of Georgia doctors will attend the annual meeting of the Association of Seaboard Air Line Railway Surgeons Nov. 16-18 in Miami, Fla. Dr. T. A. Peterson of Savannah is president-elect of the organization.

Besides Dr. Peterson, Georgia physicians who hold offices in the association include Dr. J. W. Palmer of Ailey, secretary-treasurer; Dr. C. K. Sharpe of Arlington, and Dr. Frank L. Eskridge of Atlanta, members of the executive committee, and Dr. W. K.

Rooster Spurs Child And Lands in a Stew

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 9 (AP)—Police today informed Will Swain that his rooster had attacked a three-year-old child and spurred its forehead, requiring surgical attention.

"Yes, I heard about it," replied Swain.

"Where's the rooster?" inquired the officers.

Swain led them to the kitchen, lifted the lid on a boiling pot. The rooster really was in a stew.

Life's Always a Circus For the Wilson Family

By BETTY CARROLLTON

There's life, love and laughter under the Big Top. And life's a lark for children of the circus.

A trapeze is their teething ring . . . sawdust is their cradle . . . laughter is their lullaby . . . applause is their tonic.

The fifth generation of Wilsons is currently performing with the Shrine Circus, testifying, as Mr. Wilson says, "once the smell of sawdust and grease paint gets in your blood, it's there to stay."

WORK TOGETHER

"Dime" Wilson, top clown of the circus, refuses to take top billing over the others in his family who've been steeped in circus tradition since birth.

"We were born into the business," he says, "and we all work together."

"Dime's" wife, Connie, is one of the few lady clowns in show business. Of their six children, three are already veteran trapeze artists, including "Little Dime," aged 5, who appears regularly with Mom and Pop.

Thirteen-year-old Trudy Wilson leans towards elephants. She divides her time behind the footlights between putting the elephants through their paces and doing a contortionist act.

Eighteen-year-old Penny takes top billing in a riding act, as well as a solo aerial act, swinging by her teeth from an iron bar.

Penny and Trudy have been performing five years.

But the heart-winner of the Wilson troupe is "Little Dime." When he's decked out in grease paint, shaggy red wig and billowing costume, the laughter that rings from the rafters comes straight from the hearts of spectators. This youngster has been performing since "he was just a toddler."

The future of Linda, 9, hinges on her fondness for dogs. She practices daily for ring work with a dog act.

AERIAL STAR

Donna, 6, wants star billing in an aerial act. Jeanne, 11, is becoming an expert horsewoman and trapeze artist.

"Life's never dull for us," says Mr. Wilson.

When they're on the road, the Wilson youngsters continue their education via correspondence courses. They've visited each of the 48 states, Mexico, Canada and Cuba.

She designs and makes all the costumes for the family troupe.

Current Interests Group to Meet

Current Interests Group of the Atlanta branch of the American Association of University Women will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A. F. Hess, 250 Fourteenth St., NE.

Mrs. Marion M. Kerr, assistant librarian at the DeKalb County Library, will compare trends in contemporary literature with those in the past.

Art in the Home Group will meet Wednesday, Nov. 17, at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Paul K. Hoelscher, 765 Stovall Blvd., NE.

Dr. Evangeline Papageorge of Emory University will give a talk on "Colorful Greece."

The Wilsons call Gibson, Fla., home but spend most of their time on the road in their home on wheels—a trailer complete with television.

As for the housework, it's a case of "who gets there first." The first one up starts breakfast, goes on to another chore while the next one up puts the finishing touches to the meal.

And their favorite entertainment?

To Get Slim Results Act Out the Exercise

By IDA JEAN KAIN

In exercise, action is more effective than words. Trying to make sure the exercise directions are worded for action, I often act them out first. Then, dusting myself off as I get up from the floor, I type the instructions, reflecting optimistically, "This can't miss."

Along comes a letter which proves I did miss—by a mile. One puzzled reader writes:

"In a column entitled 'Goal of Slimming Exercise Half Inch at a Time,' I can't figure out how one stands on her knees and sits back on her feet and holds arms out at sides shoulder level. Could your make this a little clearer?"

My apologies—let's try again. Position: Kneel on both knees, keeping legs together. Then from this kneeling position, sit back, so that buttocks rests on heels.

Stretch arms out at sides at the level of the shoulders.

Action: The exercise action is to bend sideways to the right, and try to touch fingers of right hand to floor on right side. The reason for sitting back on heels is to give more control through the middle measurement. An important part of the streamlining action is to first pull up-and-in snugly with the girdle muscles, and it is easy to get a grip on these middle muscles when sitting back on heels.

This side-bending movement, taken from the above position, is really effective.

The Evening Color Story

Because of the predominance of satin, it's a pale color season—lovely pale pinks and blues, the new soft light yellow, mauve, and champagne, and the palest gray, white, too, as always, but to me the pale pastels look newer and smarter.

The Snow Men Got Started Early This Year

By YOLANDE GWIN

A group of Cub Scouts have turned snow men.

For days they have been collecting surplus paper around their homes for a very special reason.

The paper will be used as snowflakes in the Nutcracker Ballet to be presented Nov. 10-13 by the Southern Ballet.

It all happened when members of Troop 74, Den 6, of the Cathedral of St. Philip decided to attend the ballet in a group.

They became so interested hearing parents, sisters and friends discuss the ballet, they decided to follow the Scout tradition and "do a good turn each day."

With the permission of the ballet directors, Pittman Cory and Karen Conrad, they decided to provide the snow to fall during the "Snowflakes" scene.

For days now they have been cutting snowflakes out of reams of paper collected from their homes.

All the "flakes" will be stored until curtain time next week at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

When the snow falls—on the stage—the most thrilled group will be the Scouts in the audience including Roy Hancock, Tom Echols, Lawrence Edge, Arthur Villwock, Greg Mills, Lloyd Timberlake Jr., Paul Atwater and Larry Vaught.

Needlework Guild Elects Life President

At a recent meeting of the Atlanta Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, Mrs. T. Guy Woolford was elected honorary life president.

Other officers are: Mrs. W. S. Taylor, president; Mrs. S. T. Turnipseed, Mrs. E. D. Adams, Mrs. W. L. Hammack, Mrs. Arnold Winkenhof, vice presidents; Mrs. Walter Sheffield, recording secretary.

Also, Mrs. Arthur Palmer, treasurer; Mrs. Jess Lucas, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Robert A. Long, parliamentarian.

Annie Lou Hardy Mrs. Hal Dumas To Arrive for Visit

That former Atlantan, Mrs. Hal Dumas, will arrive from New York on Thursday, Nov. 18, for a visit. On the day of her arrival, Mrs. Dumas will be central figure at a luncheon at which Mrs. Edgar H. Greene will be hostess at the Capital City Club.

After a brief visit to Mrs. Mason Lowance on W. Wesley road, Mrs. Dumas will go to Highlands, N.C., to close her summer home for the winter. Upon her return the following week, she will again be the guest of Mrs. Greene at her W. Wesley road residence, and she will also visit her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dumas Jr., on Brentwood drive.

Incidentally, Mrs. Greene and her son, Edgar H. Greene Jr., have just returned from Bainbridge where they attended the wedding of Miss Joan Laslie to Mayo Livingston Jr., which took place Saturday evening in the Methodist Church at Attapulgus and was followed by a reception at the Laslie plantation home. On Friday evening they were guests at the rehearsal dinner given at Cyrene, the plantation home of the bridegroom near Bainbridge.

MRS. ALEX C. KING has returned from Birmingham where she attended a concert by the Concertgebouw Orchestra and a reception given by the Birmingham Music Club. On Sunday the Birmingham News carried an attractive picture of Mrs. King and Mrs. William I. Grubb, president of the Birmingham Music Club.

MRS. WARD WIGHT arrived Friday from St. Simons to visit her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cherry of Alden avenue, and to welcome her new grandson, born Saturday to Dr. and Mrs. L. Allen McDonough at Emory Hospital. The baby

Miss Howell To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Howell announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beverly Joan Howell, to Lamar Norman Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moss.

The marriage will be solemnized Nov. 23 at the First Baptist Church of Chattahoochee.

Miss Howell, a graduate of West Fulton High School, is employed by the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company. Mr. Moss, also a West Fulton High School graduate, is attending Southern Technical Institute.

Third District Plans Meeting

The executive board meeting of the Third District, Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the First Baptist Church in Cordele.

Cordele Woman's Club will be hostess to the meeting. Speakers will include Mrs. Henry W. Moore, state president of the Georgia Federation; Mrs. Mamie K. Taylor, first vice president, and Mrs. Wray Smith, state chairman of promotion of Tallulah Falls School.

Mrs. M. L. Malloy, third district president, will outline work for the district.

Underwood Baby

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Underwood announce the birth of a son, Robert Turner, on Nov. 5 at Georgia Baptist Hospital. Mrs. Underwood is the former Sarah Elizabeth McGarity.

Iris Club Change

Iris Garden Club meets at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Hart's on Peachtree instead of the Piedmont Driving Club.

MISS MIKELL

Miss Carolyn Mikell's engagement to Paul M. Varndoe Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Varndoe of Brunswick, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Armond Mikell of Jesup. The wedding will take place at 6 o'clock Dec. 3 at the First Baptist Church of Jesup.

MOVIES IN REVIEW

In "Suddenly," which made its debut Tuesday at Loew's Grand Theater, Frank Sinatra fulfills the dramatic potential which won him last year's Academy Award as Hollywood's top supporting actor.

"Suddenly" is a tense, suspenseful and violent thriller. And unlike the role of Maggio,

In "From Here To Eternity," which won Sinatra his Oscar, his portrayal of John Brown in the new film is totally without sympathy. It is a demanding role and Sinatra gives it his all in a sterling performance.

Sinatra is a paid assassin assigned to murder the President of the United States and he makes every line, every nervous action, add to the terrorizing performance. Screen writer Richard Sale, a mystery writer of note, has given the character full scope and Sinatra has brought it fascinatingly to life.

Costarring with him is Sterling Hayden, as the sheriff of the town, who first tries to talk Sinatra out of his plan; then tries to stop him with open conflict. He, too, is excellent. Lewis Allen's fine direction is responsible for developing every suspenseful moment for all it is worth.

Those who thought Sinatra's performance in "From Here To Eternity" was a one-shot affair will be pleasantly surprised. Reviewer's rating: Excellent. Adult classification.

—BILL DIEHL.

Results of a Study Show TV's Effect Upon Children

Anyone who has both small children and a television set must sometimes wonder what the effect of TV on his children is.

Certainly TV offers untold new worlds of fantasy and magic and fact and theory, and certainly the children love it, but is it good for them or bad?

Theories abound, but who knows? At least one school, Oak Lane Country Day school, the laboratory school of Temple University in Philadelphia, is making an effort to find out. Of its 260 pupils, ranging from 3 years of age through junior high, only five came from homes that do not have television.

From talking with pupils and various studies, the Oak Lane faculty decided that the average child today spends more time before his TV set than in the classroom.

Television, they believe, is crippling children's imagination and initiative.

Through television, the school faculty grants, children can get valuable backgrounds of information, but the child who watches the story of Columbus told in half an hour is apt to think he has all the facts. "Without satisfactory guidance and help," the teachers ask, "might the average child TV viewer end up knowing less and less about more and more?"

The most startling effects noted at Oak Lane were with the small children. Five years ago the pre-schoolers (3 through 5) spent most of their time playing house in the doll corner or being engineers on trains.

Today they are cowboys, Indians, circus animals, Willie the Worm, robots, or Superman. They play more roles, but the play is less varied, for the children do not create these characters; they simulate them.

Celestine Sibley

'No Place Like Home'

The street light was still streaming in the front windows but the back windows were black and opaque with that before-dawn darkness when the moon has gone down and the sun is still hours away.

I smelled the coffee making and heard the whisper of her felt slippers on the kitchen floor.

"Muv?" I said, pulling myself out of the best sleep of the night. "Muv, are you really going today?"

She came to the hall door and I could tell from her shadowy silhouette against the pale radiance from the street light that she had been up long enough to put on her corset and her dress and comb her hair. (A woman who will leave her bedroom in the morning without thus bracing and smoothing and covering herself for the day is either a natural-born sloven or in a dying condition, by Muv's standards. The bedroom slippers were a concession to the sleeping family.)

"Yes," she said, taking a sip from her coffee cup. "I've got to be going. I'm going to call a taxi. You go back to sleep."

I sank back to the pillow and moaned faintly but it was no use. I couldn't let her take off by herself in the dead of night. (Well, all right, 5 a.m. is the dead of MY night. You can choose whatever hour you please for the dead of yours.)

So I hauled out and climbed into my sloven's costume—robe and slippers with my Sunday coat over all—and went to get the car. Muv was putting on her shoes and hat and getting together all the oddments and impedimenta with which she travels.

Down the driveway, weaving a bit to avoid the slippery leaves, I wondered why it is she can never stay a full season. She rents out her house, stows away her personal belongings, loads up her trunks, craters her sewing machine and arrives in the fall to winter with us. Two months later, after she has mended our ragged clothes, sewed on buttons, stitched up a few new things all around and visited a bit, she suddenly takes off on a pre-dawn bus for Alford, Fla.

I raced the motor to speed the heater and got out and put her suitcase, hat, box and little collection of paper bags on the back seat.

"I don't see why you have to go," I complained. "It's so close to Thanksgiving now—and then Christmas. If you'd wait till after the holidays we'd take you home."

"Oh, I'll be back," she said cheerfully—that strange, early morning cheer that she has always bafflingly been able to summon. "I've just got to go home and see how things are. I didn't tell Bess what to do with my porch plants. I know she's looking after my dog but then I better see. And then those bulbs . . . If I don't hurry up I'll be too late to get 'em out. I was thinking of putting a row of iris around the birdbath. You remember how we used to have such pretty iris at home?"

At 5 a.m. with no coffee under my belt I am in no mood to remember iris. But now that the sun's up and I've had my coffee I can understand how she feels. We love her and she loves us but there comes a time in the middle of the pleasantest visits when you want your own roof over your head, your own piece of earth underfoot. She'll be back but in the meantime she'll get those bulbs out and those porch plants safely covered for the winter.

Your Stars Today

A closed mouth catches no flies.

DAILY GUIDE—Don't give in to the temptation to say too much. There is an influence which could make people boast or exaggerate.

Keep to the practical routine as much as possible. Hold down the impulse to be expansive or you may find it expensive. The full moon took place early in the morning so the high tensions may pass off by evening, but there is an overall friction in the air which could linger on.

The last three days could hardly have been smooth, especially for those with any of the following birthdates, or within a day or two of these dates: Feb. 2, Nov. 6, May 4, August 6, May 9, Nov. 10, Oct. 23, July 22, April 20 and Jan. 20. Those with birthdays this week or the first three weeks of May can expect stepped-up action also.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, SCORPIO! This is the month which is usually more active for you, and this year things are likely to be somewhat difficult and complicated. This is a two-year period of test and challenge. You can meet it and step up, or end up somewhat defeated by the extra responsibilities and discipline.

This coming year may be an up-hill climb, but the rewards can be great. Guard health and get your reserves built up.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Meeting Set

Mrs. R. J. Bicknell and her daughter, Miss Rhonda Bicknell, will be cohostesses to members of the Atlanta Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma at 8 p.m. on Wednesday evening, Nov. 10, at their home on Blackland road.

JAYNE'S P-W tablets KILL PIN-WORMS

(You may have them and not know it)

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms. Only parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients go right to work—kill Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious infestation. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge. The small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Country Fair Benefit Set

A country fair theme will feature the benefit show to be sponsored by the Emory University School of Nursing in the university cafeteria on Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Nursing school alumnae, student nurses of Atlanta, Emory students and their guests are invited.

The cafeteria will be decorated to resemble a country fair, with entertainment including side shows, a fraternity booth, and dancing to the music of Kid Miller's combo. Refreshments and hand-made gifts will be on sale, and prizes will be awarded throughout the evening.

Proceeds from the fair, an annual nursing school benefit, will go to the fund to send a student representative to the International Conference of Nurses which meets in Rome, Italy, in 1956.

Banquet Set For Friday

Among events on the social calendar for the weekend is the Alabama Alumni Association banquet to be held Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium of the Atlanta Athletic Club.

According to Mrs. Alice Moody Ryan, vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the association, all former alumnae, their husbands and friends will be welcome at the banquet.

Attending the affair will be Mrs. Oliver C. Carmichael, wife of the president of the University of Alabama; Mrs. Hill Ferguson, wife of the chairman of the board of trustees; Mrs. Jeff Coleman, wife of the executive director of the Alumni Assn., and Mrs. Albert Rankin, wife of the association president.

Market Advances But Vigor Wanes

Gains Run to 2 Points; Tape Again Falls Behind

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—The stock market continued its post-election boom today with the fifth advance in six sessions, but the vigor of the rise diminished.

Today's market ran into profit-taking several times, but on each occasion the offerings were absorbed promptly without upsetting the market.

Gains went to around 2 points at the best in key sections while losses occasionally got past a point.

Several records were established by the market's action. First, the market established another new 26-year high as it did yesterday.

The market was the broadest on record. Volume has been exceeded only three times this year. Selling congestion that developed in the first hour was the one of the worst of the year.

And, volume today at 3,240,000 shares crossed the two million mark for 116th time this year. In all of 1933 there were only 116 days when volume hit two million or better. You have to go back to 1929 to get a top—267 days of two million or over.

Prices were higher at the opening and trading was heavy. Within a few minutes the tape was late in reporting trading from the floor of the stock exchange.

It fell behind as much as three minutes. A five-minute lag was the most this year. The congestion lasted 27 minutes, which was within eight minutes of the 1954 record.

BETTER ACTING AREAS Most of the time in the first hour, prices didn't do very much but held their own. The hour ended with the higher pattern intact and 900,000 shares traded. Better acting divisions included farm implements, coppers, chemicals, most building materials, oils, and rubbers.

The steels were mixed as were radio-televisions, airlines, and distillers. Motors and utilities were steady. Railroads were lower on balance together with aircrafts. Tobacco was under pressure.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 30 cents at 140.60, highest since Oct. 17, 1929. The industrial component of the average was up 80 cents at a new high of $193.40, but the railroads fell away 20 cents, and utilities were up 10 cents.

The list was composed of 1,261 individual issues—a record. The previous record was on June 27, 1950, when 1,260 issues were traded.

Electric Auto Lite was at the head of the most active list up 1/4 at 37 1/2 on 74,517 shares including a special offering by Bachs & Co. of 62,426 shares.

E. R. LAMBERT

Navy Vet Headed to 1st Office

EDITOR'S NOTE: Between now and the opening of the General Assembly in January, The Constitution will introduce freshmen legislators to Georgians through brief biographical sketches.

Twenty-nine-year-old E. R. Lambert, Madison attorney, is making his political debut as Senator for the 28th District, comprising Morgan, Jasper, and Putnam counties.

A native of Morgan county, Lambert attended Madison High School and then entered the University of Georgia. At the end of his freshman year, however, he entered the Navy and served three years, one of which was in the Pacific. While in the Navy, he spent a year at Tulane University under the V-12 program.

Following the war, Lambert resumed his education at the University of Georgia. He received a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1948, and later obtained a law degree from the University. He began practicing law at Maison in 1950. Last May, Lambert was married to Christine Davis of Atlanta. The senator-nominate is the president-elect of the Kiwanis Club for the year 1955. He is a member of the Morgan County Chamber of Commerce, the Methodist Church, and Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Civitan President To Be Honored

Roy M. Abagnale, president of Civitan International, will arrive here Thursday and will be honored by Civitan clubs in the Atlanta area at a dinner at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the gym of the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia.

Fred E. Stevens, governor of the Georgia District, will serve as chairman of the event. Virlyn Moore Jr., president of the Peachtree club, will be toastmaster, and The Very Rev. Raimundo de Ovies, dean emeritus of the Cathedral of St. Philip, will give the invocation.

Mr. and Mrs. Abagnale, from Springfield, Mass., will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Richardson, 433 E. Wesley Rd., NE, the invocation.

DeKalb To Hold Public Hearing Thursday on 1955 Referendum

The first public hearing on a 1955 referendum on DeKalb County government will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the DeKalb Courthouse.

DeKalb legislators-elect said Tuesday they intend to hear from as many citizens as time permits and indicated further hearings would be held if necessary.

W. Hugh McWhorter, Guy Rutland Jr. and James A. Mackay, who will go to the state House of Representatives in January, and A. Moll Turner, who will take the 34th District seat in the Senate, have all pledged to call a referendum early in 1955 giving voters a clear choice between alternate forms of county government.

WILLIAMS TO ATTEND

DeKalb Commissioner - nominee Wheat Williams, who defeated Scott Candler for the county's present single Commission post, is expected to attend the hearing, as are other county leaders. Williams has pledged an immediate internal reorganization of county government when he takes office Jan. 1.

The legislators announced earlier that they would consider opinions voiced at Thursday's hearing in the drafting of the referendum.

ment, in preparation for the public hearing.

The timetable that presumably will be followed by legislators in the basic reorganization of DeKalb's government would begin with the referendum early in 1955.

After voters choose the basic form of government, the solons would work the rest of 1955 to "put the meat on the skeleton" by drafting legislation outlining in detail the new government.

Such legislation would be introduced in the 1956 session of the General Assembly and a referendum called to finally approve the change soon after the session ends. An early final referendum would allow officers of the new government to be nominated in the regular Democratic primary that year.

Holder's acceptance of the post was announced Monday at a called meeting of the Doraville City Commission.

Others who have accepted planning commission posts include George Galloway, vice chairman; Grant S. Reynolds Jr., Frank L. Dey Jr., Alexander Cullen Jr. and E. S. Hobson.

The commission will determine which recommendations of a Georgia Tech group studying the city's planning needs will be put into effect.

a wide-sweeping internal reorganization patterned after the Griffiths pattern when he takes office next Jan. 1. Williams said he will create recommended posts, such as those of comptroller and assistant to the commissioner, by executive order and will instruct new department heads to carry out the reorganization as he directs it.

REGISTRATION BOON?

Meanwhile, Charles D. McKinney Jr., chairman of the Metropolitan Voting Council in DeKalb, said he hoped the pending referendum would increase voter registration in DeKalb.

McKinney, who is Williams' choice for the planned county post of commissioner's aide, said the Voting Council estimates at least 65,000 persons who could vote are not eligible because they are not registered. The present registration is approximately 55,000.

The voting council leader said his group was urging county officials to create new voting precincts and purchase additional voting machines in order to ease overcrowded conditions at some polling places.

Such revamping of voting methods should be undertaken before the 1955 referendum on county government, McKinney emphasized.

Holder To Head Planning Group At Doraville

Robert M. Holder, principal developer of the Peachtree Industrial boulevard area, has accepted chairmanship of the newly formed Doraville Planning Commission.

Holder's acceptance of the post was announced Monday at a called meeting of the Doraville City Commission.

Others who have accepted planning commission posts include George Galloway, vice chairman; Grant S. Reynolds Jr., Frank L. Dey Jr., Alexander Cullen Jr. and E. S. Hobson.

Man of Year Judges Listed In Decatur

Three Decatur leaders have been named to select the city's "Young Man of the Year" in a contest sponsored by the Decatur Lions Club.

The judges are Mrs. Katherine Mann, DeKalb County ordinary; the Rev. Harry Tisdale, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, and Claude H. Blount, vice president of the First National Bank in Decatur.

Percy Plant, chairman of the Lions committee in charge of the 1954 "Young Man" completion, said any Decatur resident can make a nomination by addressing it to Young Man of the Year Committee, Decatur Lions Club, 215 Atlanta Ave.

The person nominated must be a resident of Decatur or its environs and must be under 36 years of age at the end of the year.

Selection will be made on the basis of leadership ability, service to the community and country, service to his religious group, business ability and general attitude toward community affairs.

Walter McDonald, Frank Manning and Roy Blount are other members of the special Lions committee.

CIVIC CHORUS

Decatur Singers Planning Trip to Wales in Summer

The Decatur Civic Chorus will open its 1954-55 concert season Thursday with a dual purpose in view—to entertain its audiences and to raise funds for a trip to Wales.

The vocal group has been invited to participate in the annual Eisteddfod International Music Festival at Llangollen, Wales, next summer.

To finance its trip, the five-year-old chorus for the first time will use proceeds of its concerts for its own activities. In the past, profits have gone to benefit various organizations.

The first concert will be held Thursday at West Georgia College in Carrollton. The annual fall concert of the chorus will be given Nov. 30 at the Decatur High School auditorium.

The Decatur chorus group, under the direction of Mrs. Dale Clark, is composed of Decatur and DeKalb County residents who formed the chorus as a civic venture. Its annual spring and fall concerts and radio and television appearances have earned for it the reputation that brought the Wales music festival invitation.

Dale Clark, radio newsman, is narrator for the group, and Mrs. L. C. Sharp is accompanist.

A classic of early church music, "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," by Palestrina, will be featured in the chorus' first concert. The remainder of the program will be varied from classical renditions to light songs.

John Singleton of Decatur, tenor soloist for All Saints Episcopal Church in Atlanta, will be featured soloist. This is his first season with the Decatur organization.

All DeKalb Fire Calls Must Go to DE-2542

The DeKalb County fire department Tuesday emphasized that only one telephone number—DE. 2542—is the official number to dial when reporting a fire anywhere in the county outside the city limits of Atlanta and Decatur.

Asst. Fire Chief D. P. Martin expressed concern that valuable minutes might be lost if residents attempted to report a fire by calling one of nine old numbers formerly listed for the fire department's various units.

OLD NUMBERS OUT

The new number replaced the nine old numbers last summer when the department installed a central switchboard. The central number was listed in the new telephone directory and with the telephone company operators, telephone officials said.

Martin warned, however, that some old numbers still might be listed on "Emergency Call" cards or in personal telephone number pads kept in homes. He urged residents to change all DeKalb fire listings to the new number—DE. 2542.

In the transition to the central "To Report a Fire" switchboard, telephone company officials said, many of the old numbers were retained for phones at various fire stations for use by personnel.

NUMBERS REASSIGNED

A few of the old numbers, they added, were taken out of circulation until the new directory was published and then reassigned to private residences.

Martin said he was afraid that valuable minutes might be lost if an excited homeowner called an old number to report a fire and became confused by the reassignment.

The assistant chief said the department was recently criticized for what neighbors called "an undue delay" in answering a fire call.

"It would be hard to imagine any fireman sitting in the station after he has received a fire call," Martin commented. Insurance underwriters say delays are almost always caused by a mix-up in the telephoning. There's not much chance for such delay in our new system, but we want to prevent any chance of it by emphasizing that new number—DE. 2542."

Churches To Form Basketball Leagues

Representatives from Decatur and DeKalb County religious groups will meet Thursday to discuss formation of 1954-55 YMCA interchurch basketball leagues.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA headquarters in Decatur.

At least three leagues—men's and women's brackets in Decatur and a men's division in other areas of DeKalb—are expected to be formed at the meeting.

Decatur Criminal Calendar 73 Pct. Larger Than in '53

A criminal court calendar that is almost 73 per cent larger than the November 1953 docket will press City Court of Decatur officials during the week term beginning Nov. 22, Solicitor Hubert Morgan said Tuesday.

The 67-page calendar for the misdemeanor court of county-wide jurisdiction lists 448 cases, compared with 259 on the November calendar last year, Morgan said.

Although the November calendar is smaller than was the September docket, Morgan explained, the increase over the comparative term last year shows "that we're doing more business every term."

The September calendar is always the heaviest of the year, Morgan said.

Drunk driving tops the cases for the November session, with 124 counts listed. Drunk on the highway is second with 89 cases. High on the list is possession of non-tax paid whiskey, with 45 cases noted. There is one case of selling beer in a dry county.

Asst. Sol. W. E. Baker Jr. pointed out that many of the cases listed may be relistings of cases in which bonds have been forfeited, but said he also considered the calendar one of the court's heaviest.

Judge D. P. Phillips, who will retire at the end of this year, will preside over his last term beginning Nov. 22.

Co-Presidents Selected by Hi-Y Council

Jimmy Chapman and Susan Williams have been named co-presidents of the Decatur-DeKalb Hi-Y Council.

The council, made up of the officers of all the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y groups in the county, held its first meeting of the year recently, with Druid Hills Senior Tri-Hi-Y Club as hosts.

Chapman is president of the Decatur High School Hi-Y Club and Miss Williams is secretary of the Stone Mountain Co-Ed Hi-Y Club.

Laura Lee Sikes, corresponding secretary of the Druid Hills group, was named council secretary and Mrs. Claude Huey was chosen faculty advisor.

James A. Mackay, chairman of the Decatur-DeKalb Branch YMCA Council, presided at the meeting and Tweed Johnson, boys' work secretary for the branch, presented projects for the groups' study.

Decatur Kiwanis Award Winners Of Pig Contest

The Decatur Kiwanis Club has announced top awards in 4-H and FFA competition in the civic clubs purebred pig chain.

Billy Dobbs took first place for the FFA, with awards also going to Robbie Dobbs, Clinton Mulkey, Ray Roberts and Jerry Scarbrough.

In the 4-H competition, the top award went to Dianne Kines. Other prizes went to Homer Kines, Sandra Eidson, Wally Eidson and William Bell.

Louis Smith of the Kiwanis agriculture committee made the presentations at a recent meeting. Bud Moss is chairman of the committee.

DeKalb Host For Jaycee Convention

The DeKalb County Junior Chamber of Commerce will play host this weekend to an estimated 250 Jaycees from all over Georgia.

The state convention of the Jaycees will begin at 1 p.m. Friday with a Jaycee golf tournament at Druid Hills Golf Club. A barbecue for the delegates will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Snap Finger Farm.

The first business will be at 3 p.m. Friday when the state executive committee meets. The first general session for all delegates will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Superior Courtroom of the DeKalb County Courthouse.

Saturday afternoon, the Jaycees will watch the Georgia Tech-Alabama football game at Grant Field. A dinner dance will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday night.

A nondenominational church service will be conducted Sunday morning, followed by a business meeting from 10:45 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The meeting will close with a luncheon at 1 p.m. at Druid Hills Golf Club.

Pat Murphy is chairman and Harry Satterwhite Jr. is co-chairman for convention arrangements for the DeKalb Jaycee unit.

Legion 'Train' To Give 157 Children Ride

Residents of the Methodist Children's Home in Decatur will get a ride on the nationally famous "train" of the Voiture Locale 217 of 40 at 8 Sunday.

The highway vehicle, with its engine, coal car and caboose, will take the 157 children at the home for a short jaunt, making several trips.

A picnic at the home for the children will follow the train rides.

The Voiture Locale 217 train, built and operated by Fifth District members of the honorary American Legion society, won national honors two times in succession, withdrew from competition the next year, won the next year and then withdrew indefinitely.

Beverly Yancy is engineer and Jim Eden is conductor in charge of the train. Ira Melton, chef de care of the DeKalb group, arranged the children's home trips.

Jimmy Chapman Heads Decatur Hi-Y Chapter

Jimmy Chapman has been elected president of a new senior Hi-Y Club at Decatur High School.

Charter members of the unit, called the Signum Fidelis Chapter of Hi-Y, will be inducted in ceremonies later this month.

Other officers named by the new service group are Earl Vandigrift, vice president; David Farr, secretary; Kay Heid, treasurer, and Bill Gary, chaplain.

Co-advisers are Garvin Miller and Ansley H. Shuler. Sponsors are Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Deacon.

Candler Named Trustee of Fund

DeKalb County Commissioner Scott Candler has been named a trustee for the American Legion National Americanism Endowment Fund.

Candler, who has been a local and state leader in Legion affairs, was nominated for the six-year term by James E. Powers, Georgia's national executive committee member, and State Commander Jack Langford.

The DeKalb commissioner has been state commander and post commander for Harold Byrd Post 66 in DeKalb.

Hutchins Reelected By DeKalb League

H. H. Hutchins of Lithonia has been reelected president of the DeKalb Good Government League, Inc., a semi-political civic group.

Other new officers elected by the group include James Almond of Tucker, vice-president; Ray H. Llewellyn, treasurer, and Mrs. H. L. Mostellar, secretary.

Officers and directors elected will serve a one-year term.

Buckhead Christmas-Light Turn-On Set for Nov. 26, Merchants Say

Installation of Buckhead's Christmas street lighting was under way Tuesday, and president-elect Floyd Pike of the Buckhead Merchants' Assn. announced tentative plans to illuminate the display the night after Thanksgiving. Crews from a local electric company, which volunteered to undertake the installation of some $5,000 worth of equipment at cost, were busy most of the day attaching 8-foot aluminum "shepherd's staffs" and other decorations to utility poles.

Pike, in an announcement made jointly with the association's current president Les Fraser, said all lights and decorations will be "up" by Monday in order to allow checking and possible extension of the system to cover street frontages of as many additional merchants as possible.

Fraser urged "those few merchants" who have not yet made good their pledges and assessments toward the estimated $5,700 cost of the project to please mail their contributions to association treasurer, Miss Helen Johnson, at 3078 Roswell Rd., N.W.

He said a recent report by Miss Johnson indicated a need for $1,000 in addition to the group's $525 "on hand" in order to cover installation, current, insurance, disassembly and storage costs.

Meanwhile, plans for a float which the group will enter in a Christmas parade to be sponsored by the Buckhead Fifty Club on Friday, Dec. 3, were being completed by a committee headed by Miss Helen Thompson.

Fraser said he has not as yet received the results of a survey an association committee was to conduct relative to the desires of association members concerning "night openings" of stores during the Christmas season.

He indicated the matter would likely be left this season to "individual discretion," but added that unified action is planned for the 1955 season. Members of the group have decided, however, to keep their businesses open on the night of the parade.

Pike said a regular meeting of the association previously scheduled for Monday night had been postponed until Monday, Nov. 22. He said there had been no report as yet from a committee appointed to investigate the possibility for improving the parking situation in Buckhead.

Library, Fire Station Sale Looms

Sale of Brookhaven's library and fire station property for $45,000 was reported imminent Tuesday as County Commissioner Scott Candler announced that a new fire station would have to be next to a proposed Brookhaven community center.

Candler said negotiations are not yet complete, but that he expected to get $45,000 for the present library and fire station property located in the heart of the Brookhaven shopping district. The commissioner said he bought the property in 1940 for $4,000.

Regarding a letter he received Tuesday from the North DeKalb Planning Council's library board chairman, Mrs. H. O. Stewart, in which she requested that the fire station be built separately and at some distance from the proposed center's health-center-library-assembly-hall facilities, Candler said fund limitations definitely ruled out this possibility.

He said present plans call for complete financing of the new center from proceeds of the sale of the library and fire station property now in use.

He said locating the fire station elsewhere would require the purchase of additional property, which would make construction of two separate facilities with available funds impossible.

Tentative plans call for erection of the proposed center in Fernwood Park at N. Druid Hills road and Fernwood circle.

'Homicide' To Be Staged At N. Fulton

"Home Sweet Homicide," a play based on the novel by Craig Rice, will be presented in the North Fulton High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Leading roles in the play, which is being staged by the North Fulton Dramatic Club under the direction of Mrs. Judy Smith, will be taken by Judy Driscoll, Happy Strickland, Mary Grace Lewis, Alan Lee, Dave Nichols and Fred Wynn.

Proceeds from the presentation, admission to which is 40 cents for students and 60 cents for adults, will be used for rewiring the auditorium stage lighting system.

Mrs. Smith has directed plays at North Fulton for six years.

An actress herself, she played the lead in a 1950 summer stock production of "The Heiress." Her portrayal of the nurse in the Atlanta Theater Guild's 1952 production of "Harvey" won favorable comment.

An outstanding feature of the "Home Sweet Homicide" production will be a "rose arbor" stage set designed and constructed by the students themselves.

Holder To Head Planning Group At Doraville

Robert M. Holder, principal developer of the Peachtree Industrial boulevard area, has accepted chairmanship of the newly formed Doraville Planning Commission.

Holder's acceptance of the post was announced Monday at a called meeting of the Doraville City Commission.

Others who have accepted planning commission posts include George Galloway, vice chairman; Grant S. Reynolds Jr., Frank L. Dey Jr., Alexander Cullen Jr. and E. S. Hobson.

The commission will determine which recommendations of a Georgia Tech group studying the city's planning needs will be put into effect.

21 EXHIBIT WORKS

Northside Art Display Hailed by Area Chairman

An exhibit of the works of some 21 artists at the Ida Williams Library branch was termed "one of the nicest small shows anywhere" by Mrs. M. L. Boyd Jr., general chairman for Atlanta's American Art Week observances.

Mrs. Boyd, who had been working with local groups in preparation for Atlanta area exhibits since last July, said the cooperation, enthusiasm and results observed during American Art Week should enable Atlanta to place high in this year's national judging results.

"Atlanta placed third last year," she said, "and we certainly hope not to go backwards."

VARIED EXHIBITS

The Ida Williams' display included oil paintings, water colors, ceramics and mobiles by artists predominately from the Northside area.

Among the exhibitors in the show, chairman for which was Elizabeth Hall (who displayed several "oils"), were Nell and Ben Shute, Robert S. Rogers, Elsa Norrsten, Josephine Harrison, Elizabeth Paxton Oliver, Mabel Griffin, Catherine Nunnally, Hermione Stevens, Pat Byram, Joel Reeves, Julia Jones, Billie Appleby, Maude Bondurant, Harriett Gostowski, Helen Seidel, Elizabeth Adams, Allen Alebrt, Dorothy Stradling and Mary Virginia Adair.

Similar art week observances in the Northside area included an exhibit at Doraville's Flowers Park Library which featured a "by-the-numbers" paintings by nine-year-old Ernest Clark and paintings and sculpture by Mayor E. A. Heibel.

ADDITIONAL ENTRIES

Other exhibitors in the Doraville show were Mary M. Jones, Roy Epps, Helen Wycoff, the Winters Chapel Home Demonstration Club, Southern Technical Institute and the Northwood Hills Garden Club.

Heibel's entries included two plaster-of-paris sculptures, "African Head" and "Olynx Figure." The mayor, a serious art student and holder of a bachelor of interior design degree from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, attributes his election as mayor early this year in part to his artistic inclinations.

He believes he may not have been "brought before the public" as a candidate for mayor had it not been for comment relative to art work he executed for a scrapbook which won Doraville a place as Georgia's second best home town for 1953.

Chamblee Hub Gets 2 of Lawson Buildings

Two large surplus Lawson General Hospital buildings will be moved to the site of Chamblee's proposed $35,000 community center by Dec. 1, Mrs. G. N. Miller, city clerk, has announced.

Mrs. Miller said the city council decided to purchase two buildings rather than one, as originally planned, in order to assure an adequate 2,000-sq. ft. of floor space.

Chamblee's Voters Pick Council Dec. 4

Chamblee voters will go to the polls Dec. 4 to select three councilmen for two-year terms, beginning Jan. 1, Mrs. G. N. Miller, city clerk, announced Tuesday.

The incumbents, R. F. Brown, J. H. Chesnut and H. M. Sheffield, have not announced whether they will seek reelection, according to Mrs. Miller, and no other aspirants have qualified.

Qualification deadline will be at 4:30 p.m., Nov. 18. Candidates must have been residents of Georgia for two years, residents of DeKalb County for a year and residents of Chamblee for 90 days.

The election will be held from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Chamblee City Hall and the present list of registered Chamblee voters will be used. Deadline for registering will be Saturday.

Southern Tech Management Unit To Hear Lynch

Robert S. Lynch, president of the Atlantic Steel Co., will be guest speaker at a meeting of Southern Technical Institute's student chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 3.

George M. Lawson, president of the chapter, said Lynch will speak on "How Management Deals With Customers and Competition."

The recently organized 21-member group meets semi-monthly to learn what faculty advisor R. W. Hays terms "the positive virtues of enlightened management."

To give the group "perspective," Hays said, prominent leaders from "both sides of the American industrial fence" appear before the group. A January, 1955, program will feature a talk by regional AFL director J. L. Rhodes on "How Management Can Get Cooperation From Labor."

Doraville Seeks Vote For Mayor

Residents of Doraville may soon be able to choose their mayors by popular ballot, according to Mayor E. A. Heibel.

Mayor Heibel says he plans to prepare a petition to the General Assembly asking that the city charter be altered to enable election of the commission chairman (mayor) by the voters-at-large rather than by the five commissioners.

Heibel said he would wait to present the petition to the General Assembly until a petition relative to city planning could be forwarded along with it.

Commission posts held by Roddy McElroy and Ed Peltrey will be filled by popular election next Dec. 15.

Peltrey said Tuesday that his work would prevent him from continuing as a commissioner, and that he would not be a candidate. Attorney Harvey Albea has announced he will seek the post.

McElroy has not yet indicated whether he will seek reelection, but "reliable sources" believe he will.

Sandy Springs Kiwanis Elect Punch Braswell

Punch Braswell was elected president of the Sandy Springs Kiwanis Club at a recent meeting during which plans were made for 1955.

Other new officers include Sam Roelofs, vice president, and Ralph Harmon, Claud Gunn, Bill Bell, R. E. Spearman, directors. A secretary and treasurer will be elected at a special meeting on Nov. 19.

The club meets at 6:30 p.m. Fridays in the Hammond School cafeteria.

Heibel, Epps Plan History of Doraville

How did Doraville get its name?

A city history planned by Mayor E. A. Heibel and Roy Epps may soon reveal if there is truth to the legend that it was named for a settler who was scalped by Indians.

Heibel and Epps, who say they will compile the history as "amateurs willing to do extensive research," hope to publish their findings in a form available to fellow Doravillians at cost.

Broom Sale Sweeps In $2,300

Despite freezing weather and rain, the North DeKalb Lions Club's 1954 broom-and-mop sale grossed $2,300, a sum of $100 more than last year's sale.

George Marchman, sight conservation chairman for the organization, Tuesday expressed appreciation to the Lion salesmen who participated in the campaign and to the public for its co-operation.

Sixty dozen brooms, 50 dozen mops, 15 whisk brooms, 15 dozen children's broom and 300 door mats were sold during the week-long sale despite the fact that the house-to-house canvass had to be called off one night due to bad weather.

Seventy-five per cent of the sale's proceeds will go to insure full employment for blind workers at the Atlanta branch of the Georgia Factory for the Blind, and 25 per cent will be used for the club's sight conservation work in the North DeKalb area.

"LEAVES" EXHIBIT SETS SHOW THEME
Artist Mrs. Edwin M. Burnett Adjusts Paintings

1ST TO MRS. FORD

Tricolor Prizes Awarded In Flourish of Leaves Show

A "perfect" table setting executed in subtle shades of green captured for Mrs. Clem Ford the tricolor award in arrangement at the "Flourish of Leaves" flower show held recently in the Ida Williams Library conference room.

Another tricolor award went to Mrs. E. A. Cronheim for the "best bloom in the show," a chrysanthemum.

The show, chairman for which was Mrs. Thomas Addison Jr., featured as its theme exhibit a number of intricately detailed green-and-gold paintings of leaves of trees native to Georgia.

BROCHURES

The paintings, shown in conjunction with brochures furnished by the Georgia Forestry Commission, were executed by Mrs. Edwin M. Burnett, a well-known Atlanta portrait painter.

Blue ribbon winners in arrangement were Mrs. Thomas Hicks Jr., Mrs. T. C. Davidson, Mrs. Rogers Toy Jr. and Mrs. Hayden Jones Jr.

Second-place red ribbons in arrangement went to Mrs. E. W. Smith, Mrs. Robert Bruce III, Mrs. William Shuppert, Mrs. Spencer Crowley and Mrs. Charles Evans.

Mrs. Alvin Barge, Mrs. Seixas Milner, Mrs. Addison, Mrs. Charles West and Mrs. William Haymaker received yellow third-place ribbons in the classification.

Winners in the children's or "Foot High" competition were Betty Milner, first place; Sara Addison, second place, and Margaret and Helen Crowley, third places.

The judging committee was composed of Mrs. Garnett Evans, Mrs. D. A. Gammage, Mrs. E. C. Houston, Mrs. J. F. Reynolds, Ed Daugherty, Rosser Allston, Frank Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wood.

Hostesses at a luncheon honoring the show entrants were Mrs. Halsey Garland, Mrs. John Mount, Mrs. E. L. Osborne, Mrs. Cosby Swanson, Mrs. Edward Chapman and Mrs. Robert Miles.

Comments from the judges concerning Mrs. Ford's tricolor-winning table setting included: "Subtle colors and execution... I have seen the perfect table." The entry was made up of fruit, candles, bamboo, wine bottle and glasses, vegetables, locust leaves, and two cranes carved from crows' horns. It will be on display in the window of a local florist.

Mrs. Burnett, in doing research for her theme exhibit paintings of leaves, became the first person to withdraw the Ida Williams Library's huge unabridged dictionary. Special permission for doing so was granted by Mrs. Laura Dodson, librarian.

Tillie Page Set As Guest Soloist With Symphony

Tillie Page, oboist with the North Fulton High School Band, will appear as a guest soloist with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra at youth concerts slated for Nov. 22 and Nov. 30.

Miss Page, whose oboe presentations at the last four state high school music festivals were rated "superior," will play "Concerto for Oboe and Strings" by Corelli-Barbirolli at both concerts.

The young artist is a second lieutenant in the 60-piece North Fulton band, one of three Atlanta high school bands invited to appear next January in the inaugural parade of Gov.-elect Marvin Griffin.

A senior Girl Scout, she was one of three Georgia delegates to a national Girl Scout conclave held last summer at Cody, Wyo.
